

British Warships Batter Silent Nazi Forts at Tobruk

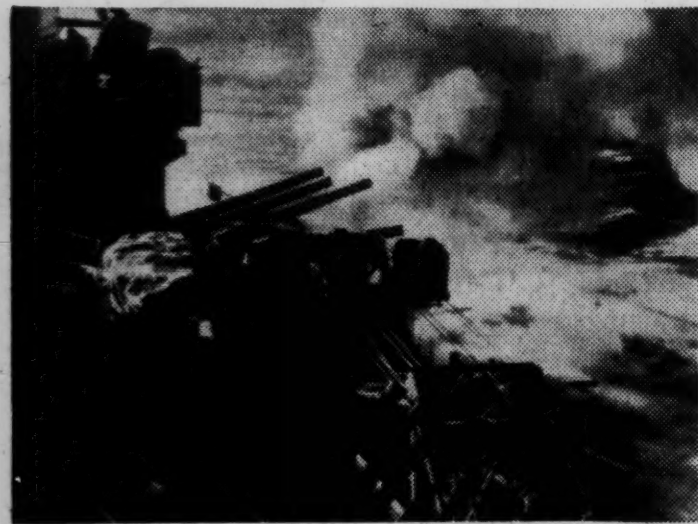

(Larry Allen, 33-year-old Associated Press correspondent born at Mount Savage, Md., yesterday completed traveling a total of 85,000 miles with the British Mediterranean fleet in operations since July, 1940. He has made 50 trips to sea aboard every type of combat boat, including a Greek torpedo boat, and was on the aircraft carrier Illustrious last January when 50 German planes dumped bombs on and around it in a nearly disastrous seven-hour attack. Here is his latest dispatch written aboard ship after another British ally against the Axis.)

By LARRY ALLEN.

WITH BRITISH WARSHIPS EAST OF TOBRUK, Libya, Oct. 22.—(AP)—A long line of British warships stood off the bleak Libyan coast early today and pumped tons of high explosives into German artillery positions east of besieged Tobruk in a spectacular reminder that a major British land offensive may begin soon in the desert.

Not a Nazi gun spoke nor did an Axis plane appear during and after the 15-minute bombardment. The British said it was highly successful.

While the operation primarily aided in relieving pressure on the surrounded British at Tobruk, it also was reminiscent of naval activity which last winter preceded and aided General Sir Archibald Wavell's drive against the Italians from Egypt as far west as Bengasi, Libya.

The shadowy sea monsters maneuvered close to shore shortly after midnight. Weather favored the onslaught. Rain clouds drifted overhead.

Gunners and officers were tense and impatient for action. I watched the action from the bridge of one of the ships. British planes took off and dropped flares on the objective. As these brilliant torches floated near the earth the big guns let go one after the other.

Suddenly the guns of the ship I was on spoke. A blinding sheet of flame burst from the guns and swept back over the bridge. The shells swished shoreward and crashed with shattering explosions in the target area where Nazi long-range guns have been pumping 8-inch shells into Tobruk. On both sides as far as the eye could see the fleet's guns lit the dark choppy sea.

Perhaps the German gunners feared that to answer would disclose more accurately their own emplacements. At any rate no land batteries went into action although the warships easily were within range.

British officers were confident that the bombardment had seriously damaged, if not destroyed, the German desert artillery, and dawn found the fleet steaming unchallenged eastward toward home.

Vesuvius' Glare Guides British In Deadly Bomb Raid on Naples

ROME, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Guided by the glowing crater of Vesuvius, five waves of British planes blasted at Naples for five hours last night and early today and caused damage which the Italian high command described bluntly as huge.

It was by far the longest and worst air raid of the war for the ancient capital of the Kingdom of Two Sicilies, a great port city of about 1,000,000 people. There was no disclosure of the extent of damage to the port or to shipping in the sprawling harbor.

The city was blacked out when the first wave of planes came over at 9 p. m., but Vesuvius provided an unquenchable beacon.

Hundreds of bombs were dropped. Explosive bombs crashed through buildings; incendiary bombs lit fires which firefighters immediately got under control, military headquarters reported.

Contrary to reports that impressionable Neapolitans show panic while invoking the aid of their patron saint, Gennaro, during air raids, officials praised them for maintaining order last night.

The high command said the civilian population "maintained an admirable behavior of calm and discipline."

Despite great damage to dwellings, only 14 persons were officially reported killed and 27 injured, indicating that the people, after many raids, are taking to their shelters in time.

Other bombs fell in Sicily's Catania province, where one person was killed and four injured. Here, a raider was reported shot down by antiaircraft guns.

Georgian Parachutes To Safety in Crash

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Two Kelly Field planes collided in midair today, but Lieutenant Clarence A. Hydron, of St. Louis, an instructor, and Aviation Cadet Jack W. Rogers, of Sanderson, Ga., in one plane and Aviation Cadet Claude W. Rockabrand, of Chicago, occupant of the other plane, parachuted to safety.

The crash occurred near Medina Lake, 30 miles northwest of San Antonio.

Hatch Act Quiz Petain Begs Is Forced Out French To Halt Of State Capitol Nazi Slayings

Governor Spurns Plea for Police To Quell Demonstrations.

By LUKE GREENE.

A federal judicial authority, the Civil Service Commission, was driven out of the state capitol yesterday and forced to take refuge in the federal building because of the turbulent exhibitions of state political leaders and refusal of the Governor to provide adequate police protection to quell such demonstrations.

The hearing for labor officials charged with violating the Hatch act was halted temporarily while Examiner James W. Irwin and attorneys for the Civil Service Commission arranged for the transfer. The examiner, attorneys and witnesses then moved en masse from the senate chamber to the federal district courtroom.

This unexpected move followed another angry, lengthy outburst by Senator H. B. (Hell Bent) Edwards, of Valdosta, who stopped the hearing and demanded again that he be allowed to represent J. E. B. Stewart, director of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation and one of the defendants in the case. The senator went so far as to invite the examiner outside the senate chamber for a fight.

Calmly Examiner Irwin called upon A. L. Henson, special assistant attorney general attached to the Labor Department, to ask the Governor for police protection to prevent further outbursts, which have occurred intermittently since the hearing began Monday.

When the hearing was resumed in the afternoon, Examiner Irwin, whose duties are similar to those of a judge, announced to the crowded senate chamber that it was impossible for the federal body to continue the hearing in the capitol.

"Obviously, we cannot continue to hold forth in this chamber," he said.

150 More Hostages Face Execution Before Reprisal Squads.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Oct. 22.—The second assassination of a German officer within 48 hours prompted an anguished appeal tonight from old Marshal Petain for Frenchmen to "put a stop to these killings" and deliver up the culprits to save the lives of at least 150 more hostages now facing speedy execution by German reprisal squads.

This morning, 50 persons, including a number from the Paris region, were executed at undisclosed places for the killing on Monday of the German commandant at Nantes; 50 more await execution unless the Nantes killers are arrested by Thursday midnight and another 100 were seized today for reprisals in connection with the killing of a German military judicial counselor at Bordeaux.

This last officer slain was wounded fatally by four young men on Bordeaux' boulevard St. Georges last night. His name was not immediately made public.

Announcing the first 50 executions and listing the further consequences unless the Nantes and Bordeaux assassins are found, Petain told the nation in a quivering radio voice:

"The ransom is frightful! I cry out to you about this in my broken voice. Do not let any more harm befall France!"

(From Britain, the London radio appealed to Frenchmen to refrain from further shootings of German officers in order to spare the lives of hostages, and suggested instead that the French combine their acts of opposition to industrial sabotage. The announcer said, as heard by NBC, that the time would come, however, when two Germans would be executed for every Frenchman shot as a hostage.)

Tonight, informed sources acknowledged, the people of France were at grave emotional pitch as the result both of the assassinations and the reprisals, which to date have cost the lives of 134 Frenchmen for the deaths of five members of the Nazi forces of occupation.

2,200 on Strike At Bona Allen Buford Plant Arnall Urges Pay Increases For Teachers

Steel Workers Face Charges Here After Atlantic Walkout.

Twenty-two hundred men and women workers at the Bona Allen Company in Buford, largest leather manufacturers in the south, failed to resume work after their lunch hour yesterday, while in Atlanta police reported several disorders in the Atlantic Steel Company partial shutdown which began Tuesday night.

H. W. Denton, CIO organizer, said that the stoppage at the Bona Allen plant was not a strike, that no vote had been taken and no picket lines thrown out. He said that the failure to return to work in the afternoon was a spontaneous movement on the part of workers to help the committee negotiating a contract with the company.

A number of steel workers were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and two were named in assault and battery and wage warrants taken out in civil court of Fulton county.

The Buford strike was reported orderly and company and union officials were in conference all yesterday afternoon on the strikers' requests for "seniority" and a closed shop.

City officials reported that the workers at the Bona Allen company walked out at noon, some three or four weeks after being organized into a CIO-union unit.

All divisions of the big company plant were closed immediately.

Should Be Paid on Par With Other Workers, He Asserts.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. MACON, Ga., Oct. 22.—Attorney General Ellis Arnall this afternoon called upon the Governor to raise school teachers' salaries "to a parity with those paid other state employees and people employed in private business."

"It seems to me," said Arnall, en route to Savannah to address the state convention of the U. D. C., "that if the present Governor of Georgia is really interested in education he might consider raising teacher pay."

"The most precious and priceless possessions which we Georgians have are our children. Those who spend long hours teaching and preparing them and molding their character in the classroom certainly deserve a more visible token of appreciation from the people and the state government."

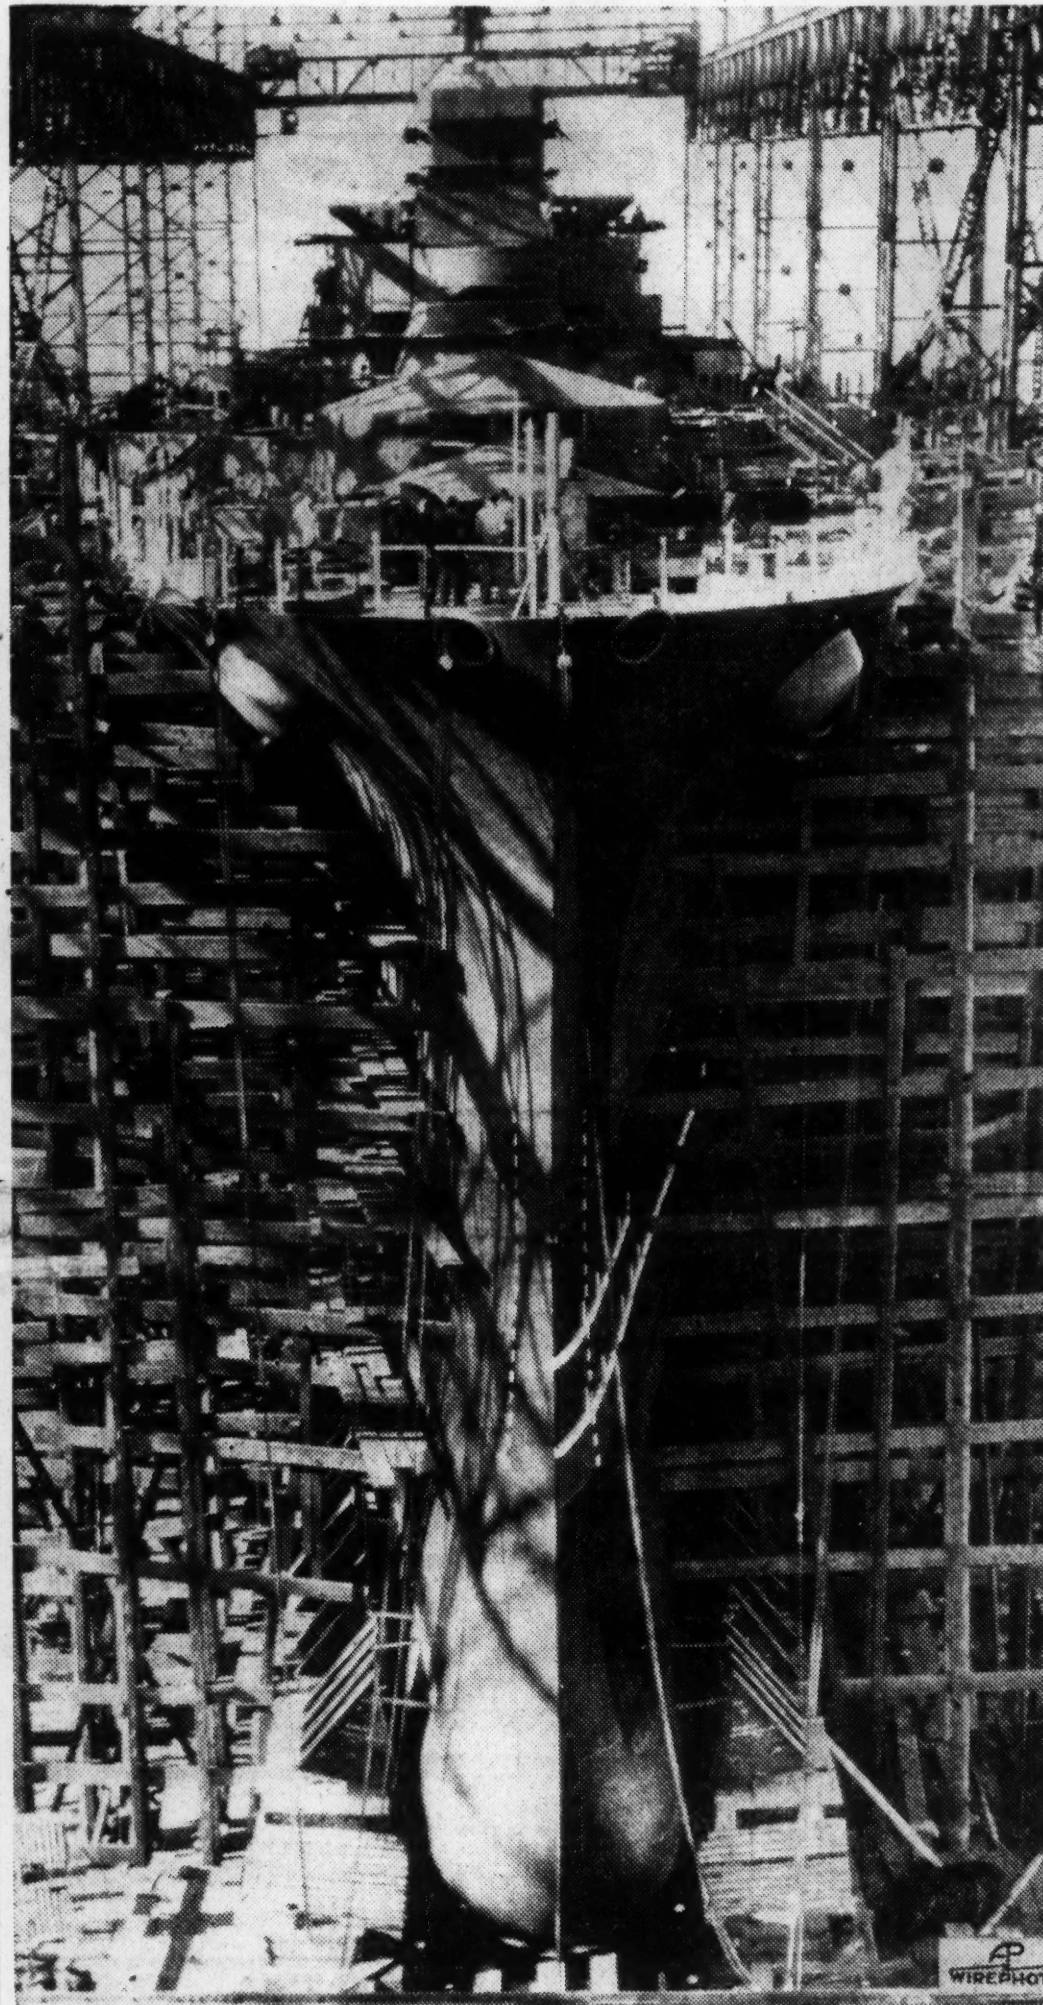

Questioned as to where the money for such raises would be forthcoming, Arnall declared that

Martin Sees First-Hand How U. S. Bombers Lay Their Eggs

Reporter Makes Flight in Mock Raid on Charleston; Rides in Little, Glass-Enclosed Nose of Big Bombing Plane.

By HAROLD MARTIN.

SAVANNAH AIR BASE, Oct. 22.—"First," said the stocky young captain with the hawk nose and the cold blue eye, "we will ease up to Charleston navy yard and bomb the gizmo out of it—then we'll turn back over to Columbia and lay a few eggs. Then we'll high-tail it for home."

"We'll be flying about 4,000, at around 240 miles an hour—in formation so the people who are trying to spot us down on the ground can get a good look. We'll probably see some of the enemy around Charleston, and maybe some more around Columbia. They'll be buzzing around like bees, but don't let them worry you any. They won't get closer than 1,000 feet. This is just practice for the interceptor command, and there mustn't be anybody hurt. Now if you'll just let me have your release."

We handed him a sheet of paper we had just signed. It said our heirs and assigns wouldn't go to law against Uncle Sam if something happened on the trip and they brought us back in a basket.

He glanced at it. "O. K.," he said. "You'll ride up in the nose, where the bombardier sits. It's nice and smooth to get in and you get a good view. Climb in."

He started scrambling up the side of the big A-20—a bomber, leaving us standing there on the ground; we didn't see any way to get in the nose of the big ship. A sergeant with a gold tooth came up. He pulled down a little trap door on the underside of the nose, like opening a fish's mouth.

"You go through there," he said, giving us a boost up and then shoving vigorously from the rear. We found ourselves sitting on the pack of a parachute, in a little cockpit surrounded by glass, a million handles and levers and

Effects of War On Religion To Be Discussed

Clergymen Are To Report on Trip to England.

Three men who see God from three different viewpoints a little more than a month ago flew by bomber to England to study the changes in religion wrought by two years of war.

They talked with Winston Churchill, Lady Astor, Anthony Edhe, Eamon de Valera, Ernest Bevin and other leaders in economic, religious and political life. They saw churches ruined by bombs and talked to people driven from their homes by bombs.

Atlantans will have an opportunity to hear these men report how God is coming out in the war at a discussion at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Georgia Tech auditorium.

The speakers will be Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews; the Rev. Father Vin-

Attackers Stall In Snowdrifts About Moscow

Russians Yield Taganrog After Enemy Suffers 35,000 Casualties.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The Germans have been forced on the defensive at several points in their far southern push aimed at the rich industrial prize of Rostov-on-Don, official Russian dispatches said last night, even as the beleaguered Russian capital broadcast a story of staunch Red army resistance on three sectors of the snow-drifted Moscow front.

The southern dispatches, radioed by the official Tass agency, said numerous places around Rostov had changed hands several times; that 75 German tanks had been wrecked by defending artillery or aircraft.

All German attempts to advance on Moscow were smashed by the stubborn resistance and by subsequent counterattacks, it was stated.

The Soviet communique for this morning acknowledged the abandonment of Taganrog, 30 miles to the west of Rostov, but this had been discounted in advance by the fact that the Nazis had claimed the town since last weekend and by an earlier Russian concession that it had been evacuated.

Moreover, the Red command reported that it had cost the Germans 35,000 in killed and wounded to take the town.

Planes Destroyed. Around Moscow, official broadcasts told of the destruction of 30 German planes in a single aerial battle and said 23 others were shot down by antiaircraft south of the capital.

In none of the three major battle areas around the capital was there an appreciable German advance, it was implied.

German striking power is diminishing both at Moscow and before Leningrad, according to a summary from London, a quarter where conservatism as to Russian prospects has always been maintained, and it was emphatically qualified with the declaration that Russian exhaustion was no less than that of the invaders and thus that some small factor might yet decide the great issue.

It was accompanied by an estimate that the major German drive in the Ukraine was less strong than previously, and this was somewhat supported by an official Soviet claim that all Nazi efforts to extend their advance toward Rostov on the River Don, the gateway to the Caucasus, had been broken and that the invaders had been thrown upon the defensive at several points.

Strength Diminishing. "Undoubtedly," said the London informant in speaking mainly of the Moscow front, "Hitler will order and carry out new attacks, but he will not again be able to muster anything like the strength he has used up in the past two weeks."

"I think some optimism is justified, and I wouldn't be surprised if one of these days we learned that the embassies and the Soviet government departments which have moved to Kuibyshev had returned to Moscow."

The German high command itself made no single reference to the situation about Moscow in its communique for yesterday, and there was no direct Berlin claim of any sort to progress on that front. Instead, German commentators in general took the line that what was happening in the Donets river basin of the Ukraine was more important.

Couple Wed 60 Years Has Anniversary

W. T. Stephens on Hand
During Sherman's Siege of Atlanta.

W. T. Stephens, who was on hand when the first shell dropped in Sherman's siege of Atlanta, and who claims to be one of the oldest men living who has worked for The Constitution, celebrated his 60th wedding anniversary at his home in Fairburn recently.

At 83 he is convinced his health is getting better every year, and that the secret of happiness between man and wife is "never get mad at the same time."

Mrs. Stephens, who is two days older than her husband, was formerly Charity Catherine Jones, of Fayette county.

Celebrate Anniversary.

They celebrated the anniversary quietly with their eight living children present.

Stephens recalls vividly the beginning of the siege of Atlanta. With his parents, he was on board a refugee train, preparing to leave from the old Terminal station for Griffin, when Sherman's first shell fell near the station.

Later he was staying with relatives in Griffin when Sherman's raiders came through that section. "I was at the woodpile one day when some of Sherman's crowd got after me," he says. "They came up rattling their sabers and making an awful fuss. I was scared to death and lit out for the house. Then they came to the house and looked around for something to steal."

Started as Carrier.

Stephens began working for The Constitution as a paper carrier in 1867. He had an eight-mile route that he travelled on foot every day.

In 1871 he got a job on the paper as a press feeder, when The Constitution was printed on a hand press turned by four Negroes, and had a circulation of 1,500. He worked there several years, then went to work for a private printing concern, and a little later left Atlanta to go to Fairburn, "for my health," he says.

"Since then I've been feeling better every year."

Stephens is still an active farmer. Last year he plowed a crop, and this year he worked his acreage with a hoe.

Convict, DuPree's Pal, Back in Jail

Bert Reynolds, 24-year-old convict who escaped from a DeKalb county work camp September 23 with Frank DuPree, convicted slayer of an Atlanta salesman, was back in jail yesterday, and had been identified in three recent liquor store holdups, Atlanta police reported.

He was captured in downtown Atlanta by W. L. Gower, a supervisory policeman, who recognized him from police descriptions.

Reynolds was serving a sentence for robbery at the time of his escape. DuPree, his companion, was recaptured several days ago and was identified in two of the holdups. Detectives Leo Nahlik and M. M. Copping said.

Stephens Passes 30th Year in Job

Ed A. Stephens, wiry, gray counterpart of his distinguished kinsman, Alexander H. Stephens, "the Little Giant of the Confederacy," yesterday observed—by working all day and saying nothing about it—his 30th anniversary in the Fulton solicitor general's office.

He took office when Hugh M. Dorsey, later Governor and now a superior court judge, was solicitor general. For many years he has been the first assistant under Solicitor General John A. Boykin.

Like many leaders of the bar, Stephens obtained his formal education in old Emory College at Oxford. He was born near Barnesville 61 years ago.

Georgia Cottonseed Brings $2,015,206

Secretary W. M. Hutchinson, of the Cotton Seed and Peanut Crushers' Association, yesterday estimated that Georgia cotton growers received $2,015,206 from oil mills during September for their cotton seed alone.

He said he based his estimates on reports from the Bureau of the Census and the Agricultural Marketing Service. Receipts by Georgia mills were one-third smaller than during September, 1940, but the cash return to growers was nearly twice as great because of advanced prices.

Hutchinson added that the value of cotton seed now was greater than any other farm commodity with the "single exception of Maryland tobacco."

Jooks Promise To Pretty Up in New Appeal

'Boomtown' Operations
Deny Vice Conditions Exist in Establishments.

HINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP) A promise of roadside operators at Boomtown, near Camp Stewart, to "beautify" their places of business today bolstered their plea that they be allowed to continue activities.

They had been ordered to close down or surrender their beer licenses, but 20 of them appeared before Liberty county's commissioners and gained a respite. They denied charges that vice conditions existed in Boomtown and asserted they wanted to co-operate with Army officials.

Commissioner Chairman C. B. Jones agreed to outline the position of the operators in a letter to Major General Sanderford Jarman, of Camp Stewart, who asked that the night spots be eliminated. General Jarman is now on maneuvers in the Carolinas. Jones said the commissioners probably would follow whatever recommendations he made after studying the report.

Athletics May Suffer If Georgia Schools Lose Credit Rating

By AL SHARP.

Georgia's schools, if they are dropped from the accredited list of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, will probably suffer athletically as well as scholastically.

Old Man Precedent is the authority for the statement. And the picture he paints is not optimistic.

Louisiana and Mississippi schools furnish examples.

The expulsion of Mississippi schools followed the purge of Theo. G. Bilbo, then Governor of the state. The accrediting association took action in 1930.

It resulted in the loss of many prospective football players and other athletes. Selection of Chris Cagle, Army star, as coach at Mississippi State failed to stop the exodus of students.

The setback in morale was definite. The blame for Cagle's poor showing was traced to that. He remained there only a year.

With reinstatement of the schools two years later came a basis for comparison. Whereas the material for athletics, as well as the classrooms, had dropped to new lows during the ban period, there was a definite increase after the lifting of the punishment.

Under former Governor Mike Conner, students again "considered" their state schools. The material for athletic teams became better. Student morale changed quickly. And now Mississippi school teams are taking their place among the leaders. Only recently could they draw away from the yoke.

The effect was similar at Louisiana State University when the school was placed on the association's probation list after scandals involving university officials.

L. S. U. Teams Inferior.

The reaction was immediate, a source close to the university wrote in answer to questions. It was not hard to detect the difference in the quality of athletic material and the spirit on the campus after the action of the association in 1939.

Teams, on a whole, have been inferior since then. The university has had difficulty obtaining high school athletes, mainly those from other states. Opposing "scouts," according to the authoritative source, are reported to have used the argument on higher type boys that L. S. U. is inferior scholastically as the result of the probation, which is still on.

Coaches have trouble keying up athletes for games and have had to worry about players quitting track and other athletics.

Students Indifferent. Game attendance has shown no change at L. S. U., but support of students is indifferent. The probation has had no effect on the football schedule, it was made three or four years in advance.

All in all, material has been harder to get and keep and the spirit of players has been harder to maintain.

So, the outlook for the University of Georgia and possibly Georgia Tech is not rosy by any means—at least, it certainly won't be if the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools goes through with expulsion. Not from any angle.

Governor Hit From All Sides In School Row

State's Leader Pledges Higher Education for Everyone.

Stinging jabs continued to fly at the Governor from every direction yesterday because of his recent manipulation with the University System and he attempted to ward off these blows by announcing at his press conference that the No. 1 plank in the 1942 gubernatorial campaign would be a sequel to the $3 tag—a college education for every able-bodied man and woman who wants one.

Other developments in the educational controversy were:

1. The University's historic honorary society, the Bifid Club, passed a resolution declaring it no longer considered the Governor an alumnus of the university.

2. Tech officials disclosed that the institution's library alone had lost more than $19,000 as a result of the action of the Governor and Board of Regents in ousting educators. This money was scheduled to come from the General Education Fund of the Rockefeller Foundation and the Carnegie Endowment Fund.

Tech Council Acts.

3. Georgia Tech Student Council last night passed a resolution "resenting" political interference with the University System and recommending that the state legislature "take action to remedy the situation."

4. In a statement prepared for his weekly political publication, the Governor charged "The Atlanta Constitution, the Atlanta Journal, the social equality Negroes outside the state, and the Communist party" were "slurring" the state of Georgia and the University System.

The Governor had the benefit of a crowded office when he announced with considerable flair and fanfare that he, or anyone he might sponsor in the next Governor's race, would promise to give college education, complete with diploma, hat and gown, without raising taxes.

Some of his henchmen gathered in the office chuckled merrily as their chief made the announcement and boasted to newspapermen: "That ought to be enough for you today."

Governor "Lives, Learns."

Asked if this meant that he would be a candidate for Governor, he replied he wasn't saying, but that if he didn't he would "have a friend who will run."

He was asked who would accredit the colleges in the event the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools drops them from the list, and he answered: "The people of Georgia."

Reminded that at one time he was preaching the doctrine that there were too many young men and women in college when they ought to be following a mule, he was asked why he had changed his view.

"You live and learn," he said. Asked if he meant to shut down private colleges such as Emory and Mercer and sever other ties by making a wholesale distributing factory of the University System, he repeated the same answer: "You live and learn."

Text of Resolution.

In its first public statement regarding the student opinion on the recent events affecting the status of the University System of Georgia, the Georgia Tech student council passed the following resolution:

"In view of the recent happenings and in view of what may happen to the entire University System, and Georgia Tech in particular, the student council resents the political interference with the University System and recommends that the state legislature take action to remedy the present situation and to prevent any possible repetition of a similar situation developing in the future."

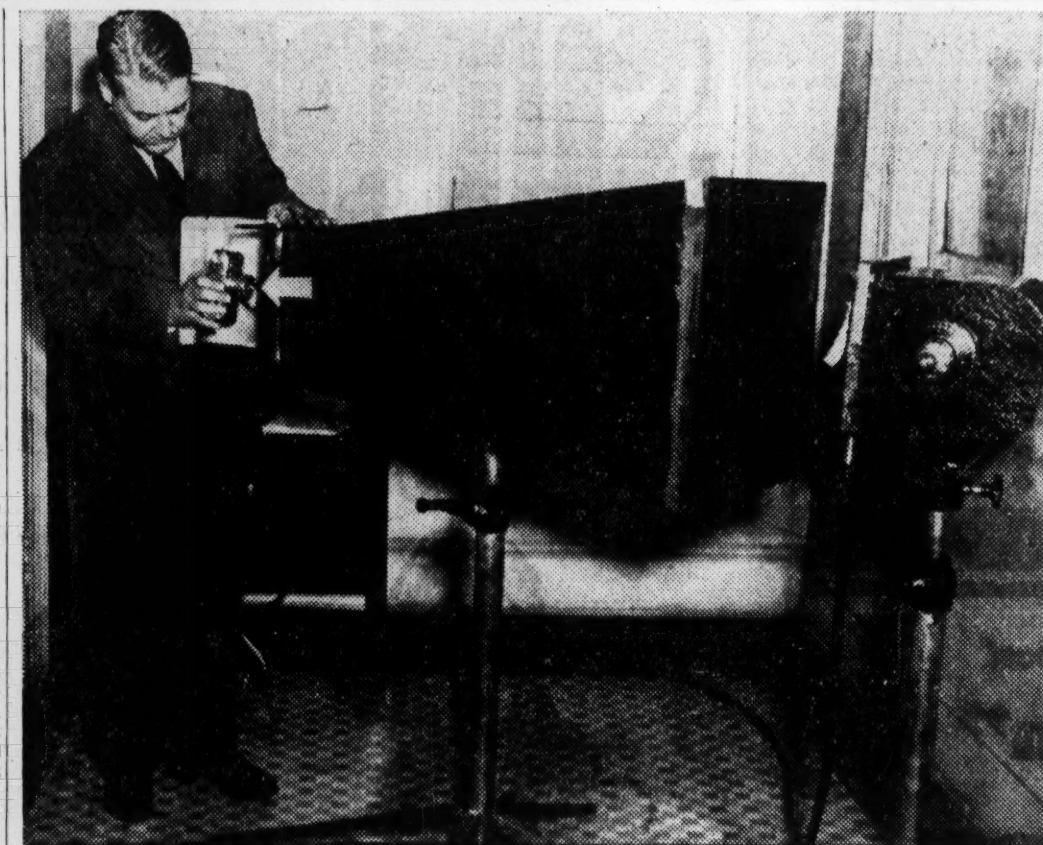

The student council also announced it is making plans for further student action, "realizing the school administrators are in such a position that they cannot take the initiative," a spokesman said.

Petition at Mercer. A resolution asking complete separation of politics and education was also being circulated on the campus of Mercer University, in Macon, by a group of student leaders, it was learned last night.

Miss Margaret Zeigler, Macon senior and head of a petition committee, said the paper already had 50 names on it and predicted that three-fourths of the student body would sign by today.

Explaining that they were coming to the aid of University of Georgia students uninvited but anxious to help them gain "true academic freedom," the student leaders said they hoped other schools would act also.

Miss Zeigler said the students were "not doing anything in the name of Mercer, because we do not want to get the school involved."

LITTLE CAMERA CUTS X-RAY COST—Saving money for the taxpayers, Dr. Rufus F. Payne, assistant county health officer, follows the county's new system of resorting to use of a small camera in making preliminary X-rays of persons suspected of tubercular infection. Tests show it will be equally valuable in preliminary diagnosis of other diseases. The camera works inside an enlarger.

LITTLE FILMS SAVE MONEY—The big film costs $1 when developed—the little film 3 cents. But in 80 cases out of each 100 the little one is just as good. Thus the county health department creates a saving of $77.60 in each 100 cases of suspected tuberculosis it deals with.

involved in politics." She added, however, "We feel it our duty as potential citizens to help kick the present governor out of the state capital."

Denying that the issue of social equality has anything to do with the University System controversy, the resolution charges that "the racial issue is primarily a device to detract attention from the immediate and fundamental problem of academic freedom."

Milk Club Friend Dares Duncan To Go to Court

A challenge to the Georgia Milk Control Board "to attempt prosecution of any person or group who purchase milk that complies with city of Atlanta or state health code" was issued yesterday by J. W. Baker, 1044 Dickson place, N. E., one of the leaders in the recent effort to prevent higher milk prices.

F. D. R.'s Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(INS)

For the Record: His customary close gander of the morning papers convinced President Roosevelt that most of the correspondents had missed or perforce buried his comments at yesterday's press conference regarding the neutrality act, under the stress and strain of the flash news that the Lehig had gone to the bottom. His first act of the day was to set the record straight. The plan was outlined at the morning huddle with his secretariat, and Steve Early brought out word that it should be clearly understood the President was as anxious to purge the act of its combat zones as to permit the arming of American merchantmen.

Busy as Usual: Behind his desk at 11 a. m. sharp for the first in a day-long parade of callers, F. D. R. started off with a five-minute chat with Governor Chase A. Clark, of Idaho, an uncle of thorny anti-interventionist Senator D. Worth Clark. The gov'ner gulped when cornered by reporters and asked if he was available for an expected vacancy on the federal bench in his district. Recovering, he said he had talked to the President about purely state business. Senator Elmer Thomas, of Oklahoma, dropped in and out, equally noncommittal. On his heels was Leo Crowley, who has steered the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation since the New Deal was just a shuffle. And behind him came British Ambassador Lord Halifax with some 30 members of the labor-management mission from England who have been touring United States defense plants. They repeated the cheering word of immense satisfaction with American defense production.

Color Note: Most dashing visitor was Major Laurence R. Melton, new commander of the Disabled American Veterans, resplendent in blue uniform, Sam Browne belt and a chestful of medals. Accompanied by Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, United States veterans' administrator, the doughty major gave F. D. R. a blonde plaque with the immortal words of Stephen Decatur, "My country—may she always be right—but right or wrong, my country." Momentarily shunting aside the problems of war in 1941, the President turned back history's pages for them and called on his prodigious memory for a few interesting sidelights on the United States war against the Barbary pirates when Decatur made his stand.

Regular Foursome: Last before lunch came Norman Davis, dapper, kind-eyed chairman of the American Red Cross, probably for a brief chin on reported plans to let another "boatload" of food through to unoccupied France. Luncheon guest was past law partner and present good friend Basil O'Connor. Budget Director Smith made his almost daily personal progress report, and Secretary of the Navy Knox washed things up early with a get-together on what the Navy is doing to stop sinkings in the Atlantic.

2,200 on Strike at Bona Allen

diately. The Allen company, manufacturers of horse collars, harness, saddles, shoes and leather, was not working on defense projects, Wilbanks asserted.

The Bona Allen Company is the largest enterprise in Buford and the majority of the town's residents work at the plants.

Pickets of the SWOC, CIO affiliate, swung in slow circles around the gates of the Atlantic Steel plant all day and last night, warning away workers reporting for duty, but it was said that some 400 or 500 men either remained in the plant when the strike began or "slipped through" the picket lines during the day.

There were enough men, eating and sleeping in the plant, to keep three full shifts on open heart furnaces and two full shifts in the blooming mill, where ingots are rolled into billets, and enough yard helpers to keep the raw steel moving, it was said.

But all other departments of the big steel mill were shut down.

During the afternoon, Mayor LeCraw addressed telegrams to Charles F. Stone, president of Atlantic, and to R. E. Starnes, representative of the union, asking them to mediate their differences.

"In view of the fact that the Atlantic Steel Company is producing essential defense items, may I urge you to submit the points of difference involved in the present strike to the Atlanta Mediation Board, Preston S. Arkwright, chairman. I am sure you agree full defense production is vital in the national emergency," he wired the two.

This came after Hugh Dorsey Jr., attorney representing the steel company, took out assault and battery warrants against Archie W. King and William J. Carter, strikers, charging they and others assaulted W. P. Smith, 65-year-old company railroad switchman, who was allegedly beaten when he attempted to turn a switch in the company yards.

Other disorders were reported. Police said strikers threw rocks at an oil company truck which came to the plant for a load of nails, and that they had poured out a dozen cases of milk on a truck which attempted to make milk deliveries to the company cafeteria.

Three Others Charged. Two men, listed as Jesse Ford and Lamar Alford, were charged with disorderly conduct in connection with breaking the windshield of the oil company truck driven by Henry Harper, 51. They grabbed on the side of his machine, causing him to run into a fruit stand at State and Sixteenth streets, police said.

Captain W. M. (Buck) Weaver, of city police, made charges of disorderly conduct against a man listed as J. M. Tollison, of Center Hill, as the result of the strikers' rocking the milk truck.

Differences between the steel workers' union and the company involved three points, it was understood.

It was understood the main point at issue was the demand of the union that workers who refuse to join the CIO union within 30 days be discharged.

Approximately 700 of the steel company's 1,300 employees walked out without a strike vote when no settlement of the differences was reached at a conference of officials Wednesday, it was said.

The strike tied up the company and stopped production of all finished products, closing the two hoop mills, the rod mill and the wire mill. Production of raw steel continued, however.

"THEY ARE HUNGRY"—American Greeks in Atlanta met William Helis (center), Greek consul-general for the southern part of the United States, at Terminal station yesterday to discuss plans for getting food and medicine into Greece. The Rev. Panos Constantinides, rector of the Greek church (right), and Nick Chotas, Order of Ahepa official (left), greeted Helis at the train. Helis was en route to Washington to confer with Roosevelt.

William Helis, Vagrants Get Greek Consul, Jolt as Judge 'Ups' Sentence

Seeks Means of Sending Food, Supplies to Native Land.

Food and medicinal supplies, subscribed by Greek-Americans and their friends in this country, are waiting to be transported to war-torn and suffering Greece and President Roosevelt will be asked to suggest a way to get them there, William Helis, Greek consul general for the southern part of the United States, told Atlantans yesterday.

On his way from New Orleans to a White House conference with the chief executive, Helis stopped off in Atlanta for a few minutes to talk with fellow members of the Order of Ahepa.

"The need in Greece is desperate and we have supplies to send them, if we can just get them there," Helis said. "I expect to see Mr. Roosevelt and ask him to help us. I won't ask for a convoy but for some kind of arrangement with the other countries that will permit us to get the food and medicines they need so badly into Greece."

Helis, chairman of the advisory board of the Order of Ahepa, which will hold its 20th anniversary convention here next August, was met at the train by a group of former fellow countrymen headed by the Rev. Panos Constantinides, rector of the Greek church here; Nick Chotas, general chairman of the national Ahepa, and C. H. Poole, president of the Atlanta chapter.

Six-Month Terms Are Given 12 Instead of Usual 10 Days.

The routine of many years was rudely disturbed yesterday for 11 veterans and one promising newcomer in city stockade circles.

Instead of the customary 10-day sentence to which they were accustomed—one had received 75 such sentences and another 50—the 12 received six-month sentences at Bellwood camp from Judge Jesse M. Wood in Fulton criminal court, with an additional six months' probation.

The regulars, against whom this offensive was launched by Police Lieutenant Henry Maddox and Bailiff John Ector, of Recorder Frank Callaway's court, were listed as Buddy Elliott, Bennie Long, G. C. Ott, James Whitcamp, O. K. Whitley, Homer Lee, Stanley Cottrell, C. C. Chappell, Ralph Brock, C. B. Walden and W. C. Peede.

The "corner" was Charlie Smith, docketed as head man of a hobo "jungle" near East Point.

All were charged with vagrancy.

Italians Fear British Invasion

ROME, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Italian troops were reported tonight to be barracked along Italy's long coast lines where new machinegun nests, artillery batteries and barbed wire defenses have been established against the possibility of a British invasion.

Newly trained troops were being shunted into the coastal areas rather than being dispatched to the Russian or other fronts, it was said, and the nation was told it would have to cut civilian clothing consumption because of army needs.

Invasion Plan 'Madness,' Says British Leader

'Suicide' Proposal Called Playing Into Hands of Hitler.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—(INS)—The British government tonight rejected as "madness" any possibility of sending an expeditionary force to the Continent to create a western front in support of Russia.

To Lord Strabolgi's charge that Britain's inaction has caused a "widespread feeling of frustration and disappointment," Lord Moyne, speaking for the government, retorted:

"I cannot imagine anything which would suit Hitler's game better than if we adopted the Chinese method of committing suicide on your enemy's doorstep."

Engines Pour From Big Plant Built Where Cows Once Grazed

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Wright Aeronautical Corporation will observe the first anniversary of the ground-breaking for its 50-acre Lockland plant tomorrow.

In the space of 12 months and through efforts of an estimated 20,000 workers, farm land from which cows were shooed on the day of ground-breaking, has been changed into the first 100 per cent production-line factory for aircraft engines and the largest single-story building of any type in the United States.

Although production figures are kept secret, one machine among the 2,109 in the plant may be taken as a measure of the plant's actual and potential capacity. It's a "transfer" machine, one of only three in the United States. Its job is to drill, countersink, ream and tap aluminum cylinder heads.

That one machine does the work ordinarily performed by 105 highly skilled workers on 39 machine tools; requires only 24 semi-skilled workers per three-shift day—and can flip a finished cylinder head to the last man on the line every 48 seconds.

20 Blocks Burn In Kiev, Ignited By Time Bombs

Invading Nazis Removed 10,000 Explosive Plants Eyewitness Says.

By ERNEST G. FISCHER.

WITH THE GERMAN ARMY

IN KIEV, Oct. 14.—(Delayed.)—

(AP)—Fires started by Russian land mines detonated by time devices five days after the German occupation of Kiev burned for five days and destroyed 20 blocks in the heart of this city even after the Germans had discovered and removed 10,000 similar explosive plants, Nazi officers reported today.

Many of the mines were set to explode from radio impulse, I was told.

"We hesitated to turn on electricity for fear of throwing switches that would set off mines," said a German officer, "so electrical service was restored gradually, one block at a time."

"Seven thousand of the mines we removed were planted in the most unexpected places, where they had no right to be—in museums, cloisters, churches and administrative buildings."

"Some were fixed to explode when electricity was turned on; others when radio transmission started."

"In the Lenin museum alone we found 3 1-2 tons of dynamite."

"The other 3,000 mines were found where one could expect to find them—at railway emplacements and other points which the Russians expected the Germans to occupy."

The fire has presented a formidable problem in restoring a semblance of normal life in this city of 500,000 population.

Browne, Bioff Case Completed by U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(AP)—

The government today completed its case against George E. Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (AFL), and William Bioff, west coast labor leader, who are charged with extorting $550,000 from four major film companies.

Executives of the companies and other witnesses testified to payments aggregating more than $800,000 between 1936 and 1940 made to Browne and Bioff, in the presentation of the government's case. The prosecution is expected to rest formally tomorrow.

Dr. E. Stanley Jones will appear here tomorrow as a feature of the Religious Emphasis Week now in progress on the campus of the Georgia State College for Women.

Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor of the First Methodist church, of Atlanta, opened the meet yesterday and was followed today by Dr. Maurice Trimmer, of the First Baptist church, of Macon.

Dr. William Elliott, pastor of the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, Atlanta, and Canon Robert Randall, of the Cathedral of St. Philip, will also appear this week.

The week is devoted to a series of talks and conferences on religion conducted by representatives from leading denominations and creeds.

Russia-Bound Ships Shift to Atlantic Route

Armed Merchant Craft Soon To Speed Goods to Archangel.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(INS)—

Armed United States merchantmen, conveyed by American and British warships and protected from air attack by Britain's RAF, soon will ply the sealanes of the north Atlantic all the way to Archangel to replenish the hard-pressed Soviet forces with war materials through the coming winter months.

An announcement by the Maritime Commission stating that beginning October 28 all "war materials" earmarked for Russia would be shipped from Boston across the Atlantic, instead of the longer trans-Pacific route, implied tonight that Britain had succeeded in clearing the northern Norwegian and Barents seas of Axis submarine menace, and strengthened reports, so far unconfirmed, that 40,000 British troops have been landed and control the port of Archangel.

The decision of the Maritime Commission followed hard on the report to President Roosevelt by W. Averell Harriman on Russia's immediate needs, and as the administration drove for swift passage of the bill authorizing the rearming of merchantmen by the senate.

Maritime Commission officials explained that the shorter hauls made possible by the new route would make it possible to rush to the Soviets materials essential to their continued resistance against the German onslaught.

The Pacific coast ports, it was indicated, would continue to handle all shipments which do not fall into strictly military categories.

Mexico's Relations With Britain Hailed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—

Mexico's resumption of diplomatic relations with Great Britain, widely displayed in the press here, was hailed in diplomatic circles today as another evidence that Mexico "means business" in her declared policy of adhering to democratic principles and hemisphere solidarity.

These same circles pointed out, with great care, however, that Mexico's evident willingness to effect political rapprochement with Great Britain, as she has done with the United States, should not be confused with the oil expropriations question.

U. S. Action in Siberia Stirs Japanese Wrath

TOKYO, Thursday, Oct. 22.—(AP)—

The Japanese press charged with growing wrath today that the United States was seeking Siberian bases for use against Japan and warned that "Siberia belongs to Asia."

Most outspoken was the newspaper Hochi, which said the United States was pushing her military bases toward Japan step by step and asked whether the nation should keep quiet in the face of British-American attempts to "enslave a great number of Asiatics in Siberia as well as its enormous natural resources."

Government At Reykjavik Quits Suddenly

Disagreement on Internal Affairs Blamed by Iceland Cabinet.

REYKJAVIK, Oct. 22.—(INS)—

The Icelandic cabinet of Prime Minister Hermann Jonasson resigned suddenly today due to disagreements over internal matters.

At the request of the regent, who nominally represents the "King of Denmark, who has sovereignty over Iceland, the cabinet decided to carry on until a new government can be formed.

American and British forces now occupy Iceland, though the Danish sovereignty is still recognized. There have been no previous intimations of any governmental difficulties of serious character at Reykjavik, and the brief dispatch telling of the cabinet's resignation gave no hint that the disagreements over "internal matters" had any connection with the Anglo-American occupation.

Wife Laughs at 'Woo-Pitchers' Until She Recognizes Her Mate

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Zielazny testified in superior court today that once she was in a tavern drinking her one daily beer and:

"I looked into the mirror behind the bar and saw a couple making love. It was very funny and I laughed. Then I looked again and stopped laughing."

"And why did you stop laughing?" asked her attorney. "The man," she replied, "was my husband."

Judge Joseph Sabath granted her a divorce.

'42 Confederate Reunion Is Invited to Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Chattanooga today formally invited the United Confederate Veterans to hold their 1942 convention in this city.

Invitations were sent from Mayor E. D. Bass, County Manager D. S. Etheridge and Raleigh Crumbliss, associate director of the Chamber of Commerce.

Headaches, the pains of neuralgia, muscular aches and functional periodic pains are quickly relieved by "BC". Why? Because the prescription-type ingredients in "BC" are readily assimilated. Such quick action naturally speeds relief.

Keep a 10c or 25c package of "BC" handy. Be prepared when minor aches and pains develop. Use only as directed. Consult a physician when pains persist.

Raid Warning! 'Enemy' Planes To Bomb City

Mock Battles To Be Staged Over Atlanta During Maneuvers.

The menacing drone of enemy bombers may be heard over Atlanta practically any day now. But just when is a military secret. That sickening, pulse-quickening sound that sends Europeans scurrying for air raid shelters, the scream of the air raid siren, will shriek through Atlanta—and several other Georgia cities—with acute realism.

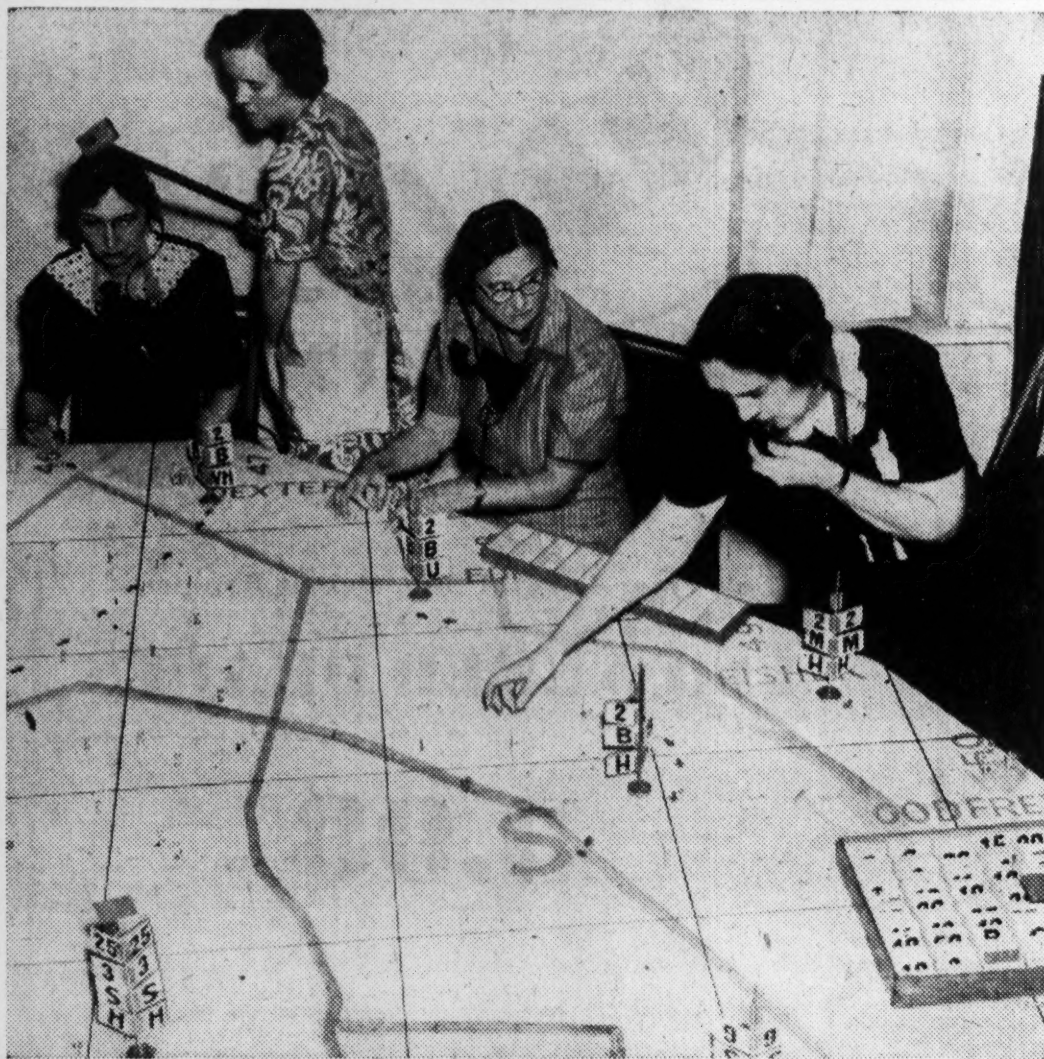

But you don't have to hurry to the basement this time. You can stand on the sidewalk and watch it because:

It's all make-believe, fortunately.

Flying fortresses and pursuit planes will stage mock air battles over Atlanta one day this week, as a part of the air maneuvers centering over the Carolinas. Observers will be stationed at listening posts every few miles apart throughout the state and a defense campaign will be plotted from strategic centers.

So don't let the aerial battle affect your blood pressure too much. Hitler hasn't landed yet. And the "enemy" is shooting with cameras this time.

CANAL ZONE LABOR.
Unemployment is not a serious problem in the Canal Zone, according to the Census Bureau. Of the 23,783 persons 10 years of age and older living outside the several military and naval reservations, only 690—not quite three per cent—were seeking work on April 1, 1940; and these, only 258 had had previous employment amounting to a month or more.

THE WAR GAME—Here is a scene in the Army filter center at Savannah, where women volunteers are tracing flights of invading bombers on a map according to information phoned them by civilian observers throughout the area. It's a part of the practice work in the third interceptor command's maneuvers in the Carolinas and north Georgia to test defenses against air raids in case of real warfare.

Martin Sees How Bombers Lay Their Eggs

buttons and knobs and cables all around.

He stuck his head up. "This is the emergency exit," he said, indicating the hole we had just squeezed through. "When I close it up you'll see a little red handle. If anything happens just grab that handle, open her up and go out feet first." He grinned. "Be sure and fasten your chute straps. That handle on your chest is the rip cord. That's what you pull."

We got all trussed up in the 'cute straps and the safety belt. The big motors coughed, sputtered, and began to roar behind us. The big craft started wobbling across the grassy turf, and eased out on the asphalt, into the wind.

The rumbling motors broke into a howling snarl. We started to move. That's the first time you get any idea of how it feels when 3,300 horses start hauling you over the ground. It started just like a runaway horse that goes from a trot into a dead run. Invisible hands shove you back against your seat and you can't poke your head forward, though you try, stretch your neck like a turtle. The ground whizzing past is just a blur of brown.

Then, without knowing it, you are off, and the pressure eases off this, and with all a big ship man's pride in his aircraft, he tells you not to be fooled. The A-20-A is big. But it's fast and quick in the air, so maneuverable that the British use it as a fighter bomber, the one they call the Havoc.

"We could outrun those little fellows if we wanted to," he said.

The only pursuit ship that can catch us is the Lockheed P-38, that twin-engine fellow with the two tail surfaces. It's the fastest thing in this country. Faster than the Aircobra. The Army thinks it may be the fastest ship in the world.

Swarm Disappears:

Then all of a sudden, like frightened swallows, the swarm that has been wheeling ahead of you and above wheels to the east and is gone into the haze.

You sit there in the nose, with nothing but vast and lonely space about you and wonder a little how you would have felt if all this had been real.

You come to the conclusion you would have been a decidedly unhappy man. The bombardier sits out there in front, alone, in his little glass house that isn't bullet proof. He fires no guns. He just has to sit there, hoping that the pilot, who fires the nacelle guns, and the fellow back in the tail who fires the swivel gun above and the five gun that points down, is going to knock off everybody that comes within range. If they don't, the poor old bombardier is a gone goose. He can't protect himself.

Ship Starts Down.

Before you have time to do much worrying about these hypothetical things, a more realistic thought begins to trouble your mind. Savannah is looming up in the distance and the ship is nosing down. It seems to be coming down awful fast, and awful straight, and being right up there in the nose that way is not an easy feeling. Even the sergeant with the gold tooth admitted later he didn't like that sensation much.

You like it less as the ground flashes up toward you and the nose, which has been there in it, then it seems to be about the time you are thoroughly convinced you shouldn't have come, with

They do. When the town is still far away you look up suddenly and see the sky above you aswarm with them, vicious looking little back fellows, wheeling down out of the sun, circling and making coy passes at you. Shallow dives that don't bring them too close. And the way they go tearing around in the sky, twisting and turning, makes you feel like your ship is mighty big and cumbersome.

"You speak to the captain about this, and with all a big ship man's pride in his aircraft, he tells you not to be fooled. The A-20-A is big. But it's fast and quick in the air, so maneuverable that the British use it as a fighter bomber, the one they call the Havoc.

Jury Laughs At Testimony In Trial Here

Warden's Aide Swears He Keeps No Records of Prisoners.

Loud laughter, in which even the jury participated, swept over a murder trial in superior court yesterday as a deputy warden of a convict camp swore he kept no record of prisoners or punishments and had not punished a convict, the defendant on trial, for an escape.

The witness, E. D. Sutton, of the Sandersville public works camp, was among several who swore incriminating statements had been made by a Negro, Dock Moore, accused of slaying G. A. Baxley, Carnegie Way parking lot operator, at the back door of his home, 586 Willow street, last April in a robbery attempt.

Attorney Russell Turner, appointed by the court, put the deputy warden under grueling cross-examination and finally drew from him conflicting admissions concerning an ankle chain used on Moore. Turner told the jury the defense would try to prove Moore made a confession to obtain transfer from the camp, where he was serving a 60-year burglary sentence.

Moore was described by officers as having been the "commuting bandit" who scoured Atlanta homes while living in Greensboro, N. C., and New York. Moore was safely out of the Baxley slaying investigation when he insisted on making a complete confession. He led officers to the Baxley home and pointed out changes made in the fence since the slaying.

The jury was locked up last night.

FBI To Sponsor Defense Course

If an Atlanta policeman is ever called upon to cope with an enemy parachutist, Uncle Sam intends to see that he will deal with him as effectively as did that Scotchman who met Rudolf Hess with a pitchfork.

Just to make sure that a black-out or dangerous poisonous gas or a grounded enemy plane will not catch Georgia officers off-guard, the Federal Bureau of Investigation will hold a course of instruction at the municipal auditorium October 30 and 31 from 9 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. F. R. Hammack, agent in charge of the local bureau, said more than 300 police chiefs and county and state law enforcement officers from throughout the state are being invited to the school, which will be conducted by a special agent who has been trained in methods learned in England since the war started.

the altimeter showing zero and the air speed reading 100 m. p. h., there's a gentle bump and she rolls in, and the gold-toothed sergeant is there grinning to help you squeeze down through that trap door.

Course Is Outlined.

The next thing's to get a picture of it all. You go to an old building on a quiet street in Savannah, where maybe 20 odd women and girls are sitting around a table whose top is a big map, and on that table, outlined in little flags and arrows, is the course you've flown.

All along the route you've gone, from fishermen, farmers, housewives—hundreds of civilian watchers—they've been receiving telephone reports about you. And these, boiled down, have gone into Charleston, where officers of the interceptor command have noted your course and sent the fighters hurrying up to tear you—theoretically—to pieces.

Differs in England.

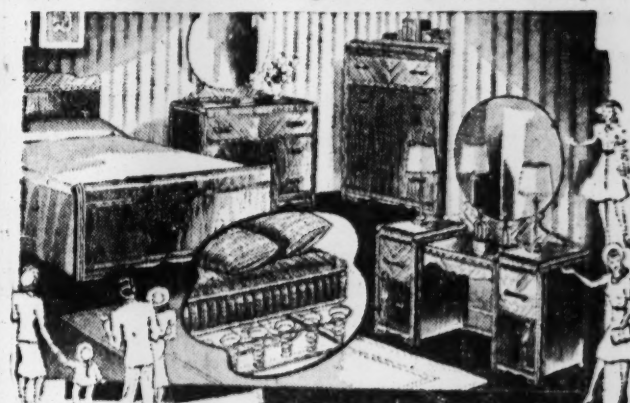

It's just a game, of course, and sometimes the watchers don't call in as quickly as they should, because they've got their hands in dough, or are right in the middle of milking, or something like that. It isn't a game in England. It's the way that sturdy little island warns its fighter craft that the enemy is coming, and it's a grim and serious business over there.

It may be a grim and serious business over here some day, too, if ever there were actual enemy aircraft basing at Bermuda, or in the Bahamas, or on carriers off the coast, as these planes that are harrying the coast today are supposed to be.

The Exception That Proves the Rule

It is not surprising that from time to time there crops up, among the nearly 4,000 retail beer outlets in Georgia, an objectionable place—one that disregards regulations, tolerates disorder or unwholesome conditions.

But such an establishment is not, the rule. It is only the exception that proves the rule. And these exceptions are being effectively weeded out through the Clean Up or Close Up program of this Committee, which with the support and approval of the press and public—and the overwhelming majority of reputable retailers—actively cooperates with state and local law enforcement officials in eliminating "black sheep" operators, improving the conditions under which beer is sold.

You, too, can help. If you buy beer, buy it only at a reputable, properly conducted place.

Dudley Glass

Dear Dudley:

In our many discussions you have repeatedly stated to me (between castigations of my poetic efforts) that you do not properly appreciate poetry. You have said you understand light verse but poetry was over your head.

The time has come, I think, when you should emerge from your literary swaddling clothes and take on the habiliments of the man of letters. Most opportune was a discussion I had with Dr. Anderson Scruggs, whose poetry I sincerely admire, a few evenings ago. Dr. Scruggs pointed out to me the difference between the kind of verse you like and real poetry and further stated that the two mixed no more readily than hot coffee and sour cream.

Verse, Dudley, says exactly what it means, no more, no less. Poetry says much, some of it not understandable. But, if it's good, it stimulates the imagination, creates a mood, fixes a pattern and does many other things which I will tell you about privately.

Stubbornly disregarding the advice of the good doctor, I have written a poem for you. I think you will find the "beat" correct and the rhymes true and unforced. I hope you will study it in your leisure hours. It may not

"MY REVENGE" or
"ESCAPE"—or "NUTS TO YOU!"
Perplexed by arrogance which like some steel
Bright-burnished in the master-craftsman's hand,
Or like the stranger in some far-off land,
Perception-dulled, with wounds no time can heal.

I watch the heedless multitudes go past,
Their eyes unfocused, buried in their dreams
Unseeing eyes, unwarmed by friendly gleams.
Cold as the glacier by the frost-God cast.

As cherubs carved on polished jasper piers
That watch reluctant moments crawl to hours,
I stir my chains within these granite towers
And drop the hot and hesitating tears.

Where is the strength to sinew flaccid wills
Or abrogate the contract, yet unsigned,
Reposing in the catacomb of mind—
Fast-hidden in the unrelenting hills.

L'ENVOI.
I shall go where the passion flower leans
And drops its blood on scarp and verdant shelf—
But please don't ask me what this poem means,
To tell the truth, I do not know, myself.

—By OLLIE REEVES.

Note: Editor: I'll be darned if I know, either. But if Ollie wants to bust into poetry, who am I to stop him—or try to? Did you ever try to placate a hornet? Well, then!

This one reached me through a churchgoing friend—a nice young clergyman at a Woman's Auxiliary meeting at a home, where the baby boy was trotted out for inspection.

The chubby divine petted the chubby youngster and inquired: "Who's got such nice, round, dimpled legs?"

And the sweet child responded: "Mamma!"

Battle Hill Patients Will Get Stockings

When (and if) winter comes, the 35 white patients in the pediatric ward at Battle Hill Tuberculosis Sanatorium will have stockings to insure that they can keep in the open during cold weather.

Dr. J. C. Burch yesterday informed members of the Grady hospital board of trustees, which also administers Battle Hill, that the Council of Jewish Women had made a contribution for the purchase of stockings needed as a protection for the patients when they get fresh air during winter months.

Increased Food Prices Predicted by Graefe

Further increase in food prices due to exportations to Europe and the rising needs of our Army was seen by Walter Graefe, president of the Pomona Products Company, of Griffin, speaking yesterday to the Atlanta Kiwanis Club.

Support of the federal farm program by all Georgia businessmen was urged by Graefe, who pointed out that the AAA plan called for more acreage for producing food crops. He said Georgia now spends $80,000,000 to $90,000,000 for foods not grown in the state.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.
HOMOSASSA.

Homosassa in October is my idea of the right place and the right time for an ideal outing. I am not saying that Homosassa in November or December or any other month in the year is not tops, but this is October and I am fortunate enough to be in Homosassa for a few days of rest, the guest of my friend Beau Hudson.

Quite a feature of this visit to Homosassa is the presence of other good friends—Bill Wardlaw, Hal Hentz, Charlie Wilson and Charlie Marshall. And I understand Mr. Ballard will be down in a day or two. Since fellowship is one of the many blessings of the Homosassa Fishing Club, the presence of the aforementioned gentlemen gives full guarantee of profitable and pleasant companionship, both in the evenings about the club and throughout the day out on the water as these friends kid one another about their catches.

The fishing, by the way, is very good, particularly the trout out on the flats. The reds are gradually coming in, though they are still scattered, and are to be found mostly around the keys at the mouth of the river. Zigzagging, a famous character down the Homosassa, caught a 24-pound red on a cane pole a day or so ago, fishing near Hell's Gate. We have picked up several trolling, and Messrs. Marshall, Hentz and Wilson are going tomorrow to English, where it is reported the reds are now congregated in large numbers and of unusually large size.

Bass fishing in the river is only fair, though we have caught quite a lot of them. Unfortunately, the law was changed last year, permitting setting in the river, and that, no doubt, has taken many a bass, as it has so many of the other fish that should be left here for lawful fishing. We have seen very few sheephead and bream, though we have not, thus far, been fishing for them.

Skipjacks and cavalla have afforded much fun when we have been on the flats casting for trout. If there is any sportier fish than a skipjack, I haven't discovered him. At times today we could see as many as 25 skipjacks fighting over one lure, and when one would finally grab it, we would have some rare sport. We have struck very few mackerel and blues.

Bill Wardlaw, by the way, got off a new one on all of us the other night when he jumped Charlie Marshall for throwing his hat on the bed. "Don't you know that's bad luck, Charlie?" said Bill. Whereupon he had to explain to the crowd that he had heard all his life that it is bad luck to throw your hat on the bed when you are going fishing. Ever since that time, you can hear all sorts of things on a fishing trip, especially at Homosassa. I guess that's one of the many reasons why we all love it so much.

Charlie Wilson, by the way, has a good story about an encounter with some biplanes the other afternoon while he was casting for bass in Battle creek. He said they circled several times very low to the water—not more than 12 feet above his boat. They must have known, surmised Mr. Wilson, that they were on Battle creek.

Grady Refuses Union's Request

Grady hospital board of trustees yesterday turned thumbs down on firing half a dozen maintenance department employees and replacing them with union men who walked off the job and then resigned over dissatisfaction with their pay.

The board instructed Dr. J. Moss Beeler, Grady superintendent, to use his judgment in the matter and to rehire the men who left when vacancies normally occur.

Dr. Beeler took to the board a request of union leaders that the men who quit be reinstated, now that salary adjustments have been made in the jobs affected.

The Pulse of the Public

The Constitution invites expression of opinion by its readers. This column is open for that purpose. All communications must be signed and all are subject to editing for conservation of space. Brevity makes argument effective and impels attention.

COULD NOT UNDERSTAND SIGNIFICANCE OF STORY

Editor, Constitution: The front-page space which you gave to two posters in an issue of a few days ago was extremely interesting—to six-year-old me—and over the fact that a pit-game cock was able to kill a worn-out sootie whose breed is adapted to usefulness rather than to fighting the hard-bred breed that is used by the lustful and gambler. The writer admits to an unusual degree of bewilderment and cannot perceive the connection in the story for small children and that hectic chicken and the blue-eagle of the dim past. Will some child please explain?

Probably the most interesting bird story on paper seems doomed to never know printer's ink. Lying between your office and the capitol building is a black bottom and to a listener there, comes the oft-repeated, eerie, raucous hoot of an unforgotten old owl every hoot timed as a death-knell to democracy.

Why not print that story?

REBUILDING OF EUROPE IS OUR RESPONSIBILITY

Editor, Constitution: "Two-Way Passage," by Louis Adamic—was jelled in one day, written in three weeks, came promptly off of Harper's press, and was on the bookshelves of the nation on October 15. But back of this unusual speed of writing and publication was a long period of incubation, a multitude of personal contacts and impressions and many miles of travel.

Adamic has a big idea—it's simple—it is that since most of us come from the old world it is now the bounden duty of many of us to complete the round trip by returning to our respective native lands to help in the reconstruction of property and rehabilitation of a livable society, just as soon as there is a cessation of hostilities. The purpose of this, his latest book, is to arouse the Americans to a sense of their responsibility to perform this task which is so manifestly our duty and responsibility. Why, has been asked, should America be compelled, every generation or so, to make monumental sacrifices of men, money and munitions to keep European wars out of America? There's just no sense to it at all.

We have the skill, the resources, the scientific knowledge to create a better world—we must do it or else we shall, ourselves, perish with the rest.

"Two-Way Passage" can be read and understood by a 12-year-old. It is clear, simple, and logical in its humanistic approach to the beginning of the greatest task which has ever faced the humanity of the world. It is for us to tackle, so let us at once roll up our sleeves, and go at it as men of strength and sense.

It is a book conceived and executed in bold and magnificent beauty—it is a debt of long standing now to be repaid.

WHY DON'T WINDSORS DO SOMETHING TO HELP?

Editor, Constitution: The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are touring America, accompanied by a retinue of servants, stopping at expensive hotels. "The Duchess, resplendent in diamonds, turquoises, jet and sable," said, "I am not much interested in clothes. I would much rather discuss Red Cross work and infant shelters."

This would be more convincing if she had been living these things. In America, many perhaps, are carving for, in their homes, refugee English children. Many parts of England are so poor and wrecked that they can not provide food and shelter for them.

We do not hear of the Duke and Duchess rescuing these helpless little ones. We do not hear that the Duke has helped equip regiments fighting for the life of England and democracy. Upon arrival here the Duke exclaims: "O, K., I'll give you a talk, straight from the horse's mouth." He is still the slangy playboy he always was. Compare the life of the Duchess of Windsor, formerly Wally Warfield's infant of a Baltimore boarding house, with that of another American woman who married English nobility, Lady Nancy Astor, formerly a Virginia belle. During a long parliamentary career she fought for every righteous cause. In this war, to aid distress, she became mayor of a ruined city near London. One day there came to her a plain woman. She said, "Your honor, we have no water. The children can't bathe." "Bring them all here were before. They would go without pay.

I have studied the character and accomplishments of every Governor beginning with General John B. Gordon down to the present and it is my humble opinion that in worth while achievements Governor Talmadge far outranks them all.

Five-Doctor Board Named at Grady

Grady hospital board of trustees yesterday reappointed a five-doctor advisory board and instructed Dr. Rupert H. Fike, superintendent of the Albert Steiner Clinic, and Dr. J. C. Burch, superintendent of Battle Hill Sanatorium, to form a similar board for their institutions.

Grady is the only one of the three institutions which the board supervises that has the advice of such a group and the board decided such advice might be advantageous for all.

Dr. Ben Clifton, Dr. J. R. McCord, Dr. O. H. Matthews, Dr. Russell H. Oppenheimer and Dr. Dan C. Elkin compose the board for Grady, which was unanimously redesignated by vote of the board.

Second edition of "Diseases of the Blood," by Dr. Roy R. Kracker, professor of bacteriology and pathology at Emory, was released yesterday by J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia publishers.

Increased by 160 pages with 10 more color plates, the new volume attracted more advance orders from recent medical meetings than any other book in the field published by the company, officials of the firm said.

Chapters were contributed by Dr. Francis Parker and Dr. Elizabeth Gambrell, of Emory; Dr. R. F. Custer, University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Lloyd Craver, of New York Memorial hospital.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NEW HIGHER TAXES Reduce Your Family's FUTURE INCOME

Federal estate tax rates were increased, effective September 20. Here are examples:

Estate	Tax before September 20	Present Tax
$ 50,000	$ 220	$ 500
100,000	4,620	9,500
400,000	56,980	94,100
1,000,000	195,580	277,700

After your estate pays the estate tax, your debts, estate settlement costs, and perhaps bequests to distant relatives, friends or others, how much will be left for your family?

If estate assets must be sold, at a sacrifice, to provide cash to pay these expenses, your family will receive even less.

Discuss this with a life underwriter and one of our officers. They can tell you how to protect your estate from excessive shrinkage, thereby assuring more future income for your family.

to The Community Fund?

Nobody knows but YOU.

Give according to your honest judgment, sympathy and means. Consider not only Your Side of the question . . . but also the Other Side. Consider the great number of men, women, children, families The Fund is called upon to help. More than 62,000 made application and were helped last year. Today—with a larger community and with costs of living on the rise—the need is greater than ever before.

Remember that 34 agencies are supported from The Fund. Even a dollar helps . . . but that's less than 3 cents per agency per year!

A Day's Pay Does A Year's Good

One satisfying way to figure out how much you shall give to The Community Fund this year is to subscribe at least the equivalent of one day's pay . . . one day out of the whole year or, perhaps, one day out of each quarter, devoted to human helpfulness.

Many salaried people figure a percentage of their annual income for The Fund . . . beginning with 1/2 of 1 per cent for those making from $15 to $20 per week, up to 3 per cent for those in higher salary brackets.

And don't forget that this is a gift for the YEAR. Divide your payments on a monthly or quarterly basis. Thousands do . . . making their Fund contributions a part of their regular budgets.

Theaters Offer Notable Group Of Hit Films

'Honky-Tonk' Stays at Rhodes; 'Sun Valley' at Paramount.

By DUDLEY GLASS.

The week opening today in Atlanta film theaters is rather a notable one.

"Citizen Kane," one of the most-talked-about pictures of the year, starts at the Fox. "International Lady," starring Ilona Massey, opens at the Grand. The Rialto presents "Texas," a western with a wide scope. "Belle Starr," another western, with Gene Tierney in the title role, is at the Roxy.

The newly-decorated Capitol opens tomorrow with a stage show policy.

Holdovers are "Sun Valley Serenade," at the Paramount, and "Honky-Tonk," at the Rhodes. Its second week there and its fourth in Atlanta.

'Citizen Kane' at Fox. "Citizen Kane" starts today at the Fox theater.

It has been the most-talked-about film of the year. Written and directed by Orson Welles, so young he may still be wet behind the ears, it aroused the wrath of many, including a noted publisher of a chain of newspapers who fancied—perhaps with reason—he was depicted as one of the villains of the piece.

There was doubt for a while about whether "Citizen Kane" ever would be released. But it was. And it's been doing right well throughout the country.

Leading lady in the cast is Dorothy Comingore, a pretty young woman who made a personal appearance here some time ago as a feature of the "Parachute Battalion" premiere.

The Fox management suggests that this is one picture to be seen from the start—as you'd read a book. If you wander in at the third reel you may wonder what it's all about.

'International Lady.'

Blond Ilona Massey, who was entertained lavishly here by Eddie Pentecost and associates of Loew's Grand a short time ago, stars in "International Lady," starting at the Grand today. She has excellent support in George Brent and Basil Rathbone.

It is a spy story—but as United Artists points out—there's no shooting. Not even against the wall at sunrise.

The scenes are in Lisbon, from which port most European refugees make their way to America, if they're lucky, and London under Nazi bombing. And even on Long Island, in which Miss Massey has a chance to dress up for a party.

She sings, too, which is unusual for a Hollywood production. Because she is, first of all, a singer—in light and grand opera.

'Belle Starr' at Roxy.

"Belle Starr, the Bandit Queen," starts today at the recently reopened Roxy theater. It stars Randolph Scott, the tall hero, and Gene Tierney, a pretty girl who has been coming up rapidly in filmdom.

The real Belle Starr of history was what would now be called a "gun moll." She was bad. Quick on shooting, fond of bad associates, ready to rob a bank or anything that offered excitement.

Story is laid at the close of the War Between the States. The Jesse James period.

According to the film yarn, she met and married a bandit named Sam Starr, who is played by Randolph Scott. And then she rode with them and shot with them—but never actually killed anybody. In the film she turns out to be quite a lovable girl.

'Texas' at Rialto.

The Rialto theater offers, beginning today, a story of the old west. It is "Texas," made by Columbia and almost as great in its dramatic scope as is the state from which it takes its title.

William Holden, Glenn Ford and

OPENS REDECORATED CAPITOL—Paula Rupree is one of the lovelies in the "Artists and Models" stage revue cast which will be featured opening tomorrow at the remodeled Capitol theater, which inaugurates a policy of stage shows for three days each week.

Claire Trevor have the principal roles, while the supporting cast includes Edgar Buchanan, George Bancroft, Don Beddoe and many other character players. George Marshall directed from a story originally written by Michael Blankford and Lewis Meltzer.

The story tells of the adventures which befell two young men, who, after seeing the western rail terminus pushed as far as Abolene, Kan., set out overland in search of the excitement their young blood craved.

They found it when they witnessed the holdup of a stage coach, when one became involved with cattle rustlers and other gentry of ill-fame, and when they met a girl, for whose hand they became deadly rivals.

The story is packed with drama, but carries, too, a nice line of comedy and a heart-warming romance.

Capitol To Reopen. Everything is ready at the Capitol theater for its reopening after being closed a week for renovations costing $15,000. The Capitol will open tomorrow with a new policy and stage shows will be moiselle of Mimicry"; Pat Sheridan, radio singer.

The screen offering will be "Flying Blind," a story of aviation starring Richard Arlen and Jean Parker.

'Sun Valley' at Paramount

"Sun Valley Serenade," starring Sonja Henie and John Payne and featuring Glenn Miller and his famed orchestra, starts at the Paramount today after a successful week at the Fox.

With most of the scenes set on the sunny, snowy slopes of the nation's glorious vacationland "Sun Valley Serenade" is a gay, romantic musical with new skate and ski surprises.

Sonja is featured in two new skating ballets and several skiing routines. She is again given the opportunity to show the mastery on ice which won her renown as the world and Olympic figure skating champion.

'Honky-Tonk' Stays

The pulling power of Clark Gable is demonstrated again this week at the Rhodes theater. "Honky-Tonk," in which he plays with blonde Lana Turner, ran two weeks at the Grand, then a week at the Rhodes—and is sticking for its fourth week in town.

"Honky-Tonk" is a "western." Gable is a gambler, square but tough. Miss Turner is a Boston girl who lands in this cowtown in search of her dissolute father, Frank Morgan.

"Honky-Tonk" is full of action, including shooting and an almost lynching. And old-fashioned barroom scenes.

Buster Crabbe Will Be Cast in Horse Operas

Star of 'Water Follies' To Don Cowboy Togs in Next Picture.

Buster Crabbe, starring here in the "Water Follies of 1941," will discard his "Tarzan" leopard skin and cover his loins with cowboy chaps and six-guns in his next series of pictures, he said yesterday. His next movie, "Jungle Man," in which he plays the role of scientist in search of better methods for treating tropical fevers, will play here soon and will be followed by horse operas. Crabbe says he likes any type of outdoor picture, which usually gives him many chances to display his excellent physique.

As star of the "Water Follies," Crabbe says he gets a big kick out of the "warmth" that comes from an audience which you are able to please. He says there is a satisfaction that comes from personal appearances unlike anything the movies have to offer and he finds it pleasant to divide his time between the two.

At a luncheon given by Ike Katz, of the Producers' Releasing Company, Crabbe listened as the guests did most of the talking. As anyone else might have done, he dropped his knife. He also nibbled at the rolls until more substantial food came.

43 Mules Burn In Canton Fire

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
CANTON, Ga., Oct. 22.—Forty-three mules were burned to death and 5,000 bales of hay were destroyed, causing a loss estimated at $20,000 here this morning when a barn on the Cherokee Farms burned.

The blaze, discovered at 1 o'clock by John Wood, started in the hay loft and the building was soon a mass of flames, making it impossible to save the livestock. Two mules saved themselves by jumping through the flames and out of the building.

The barn, located on the Atlanta-Tate highway, was two stories, 150 by 75 feet in size. Cherokee Farms is a subsidiary of the Jones Mercantile Company. The building was not insured, it is stated.

Waycross Set For Opening of 'Swamp Water'

City Near Okefenokee Awaits Picture Premiere Tonight.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P) Live animals from "the land of the trembling earth" are giving Waycross authentic flavor for the motion picture premiere of "Swamp Water."

The animals are a part of a display of Okefenokee swamp life being set up before the Ritz theater through co-operation of sports-minded residents and the wildlife refuge in the swamp.

Practical need of the wildlife on the hoof was shown when Spence Pierce, agent for 20th Century-Fox, producers of the film which makes its public bow tomorrow night, arrived here.

Pierce, somewhat surprised at the bustle and progressive look of this city of 20,000, wondered if it was, after all, the proper "gateway to the swamp."

Charles Hood, noted fox and wildcat hunter, promptly came to the rescue of the city's reputation. He organized a small hunting party, rushed off to the swampy section just beyond the city limits, returned forthwith bearing four snarling wildcats.

The cats go into the theater display, along with reptiles, birds and a cross-section of Okefenokee life. Pierce is convinced he is on the swamp frontier.

Waycross is somewhat atremble itself as it awaits the premiere. Things will start snapping early tomorrow. The Waycross Journal-Herald is publishing a souvenir edition for the event. Many scenes for the picture were made in the swamp.

Vereen Bell, young author of the story based on the lives of people in the swamp, will be honor guest at a tea. Bell is from Thomasville. Then there's an author's dinner. And then the actual picture showing.

To cap it all is the "Swamp Water ball" at the city auditorium, sponsored by the Waycross Junior Woman's Club. It starts at the picture's end.

HOBBY SHOW.
ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 22.—A girls' hobby and talent show will be held at the high school auditorium next Tuesday night, October 28. The show is being sponsored by Parent-Teacher organizations, with Mrs. Harry Logan serving as general chairman, and judged by the number of entries already made there will be widespread interest in the show, the first of its kind for girls here.

WHEN THE CIRCUS COMES—Extra accent will be placed on feminine beauty when the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus exhibits in Atlanta November 5 and 6. Here's an advance picture to prove it. These young ladies are part of the acrobatic display and the clown is—well, the clown.

Beautiful Girls Will Be Feature Of Circus Here

Ringling Brothers To Show on Highland November 5, 6.

Beautiful girls in aerial, riding, and acrobatic displays will be the featured attractions of the "re-styled, air-conditioned and streamlined" Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus which will come to the Highland avenue grounds in Atlanta, November 5 and 6.

"Beauties in heaping measure" will be offered, say advance news releases, as result of a new circus policy requiring that "talent must be backed by good looks" on the part of lady performers.

Some 800 performers, including Mr. and Mrs. Gargantua the Great, the gorillas, will be presented. A special attraction will be the fairy-land fantasy, "Old King Cole and Mother Goose," to be given each day at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. in the main tent.

Decorations will be of a patriotic motif—even to red, white and blue sawdust for the rings, according to Allen J. Lester, advance publicity man.

A "horse fair" will be given daily in the main tent, and "more than a thousand" other animals will be exhibited in the menagerie, opening at 1 and 7 p. m. each day.

U. D. C. Group To Elect New Officers Today

Reports and Business Session Feature Savannah Meeting.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P) The United Daughters of the Confederacy took off their gingham dresses and pulled hair ribbons today and settled down to reports and serious business.

The gingham and ribbons were part of "back to school" frivolities at an "education breakfast" on the Georgia U. D. C. Convention program.

More serious business attends officers' elections, expected to be formalized tomorrow morning.

Mrs. J. Lawrence McCord, of Atlanta, is to be confirmed as president, succeeding Mrs. Charles Tillman, of Quitman. She is unopposed.

Editor of the U. D. C. page in The Atlanta Constitution, publicity chairman and head of the Mrs. Norman V. Randolph relief fund are some of the posts held by the president-to-be.

The office slate expected to be confirmed with Mrs. McCord includes: Mrs. Belmont Dennis, of Covington, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph Vason, of Thomaston, second vice president; Mrs. Calvin Steolin, of Savannah, third vice president; Mrs. William Smith, of Decatur, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hill P. Redwine, of Fayetteville, auditor; Miss Mary Cullen Hynes, of Washington, editor, and Miss Helen Estes, of Gainesville, recorder of crosses and military service.

A feature of the convention tonight was an address by Attorney General Ellis Arnall.

Margaret Mitchell, author of "Gone With the Wind," and Mrs. Stuart Clare, of Atlanta, author of "Thunder and Stars," which depicts the life of Miss Mildred Rutherford, long a leader in U. D. C. circles, shared honors last night at the patriotic banquet opening the convention.

Mrs. John Porter Stevens, of Savannah, outlined war work undertaken by British women.

Youth Wrecks Eufaula Jail

EUFAULA, Ala., Oct. 22.—(P)—A slightly-built, fluently cursing youth who burned all the mattresses and ripped out the plumbing in city jail, is held on a charge of bringing stolen property into Alabama, Police Chief H. L. McCulloch said today.

"This boy, James Carl Dockery, 16, stole a pickup truck at Bluffton, Ga., and although he had never driven before, he drove it here," said McCulloch. "He proved he had never driven before by the way he came in here."

After arrest last night, the chief said the sandy-haired youth who said he hitch-hiked from his home in Steele, Mo., proceeded to wreck the jail.

"He burned up every mattress we had, tore out the water pipes and flooded the place and broke up the iron bunks," the chief related. "He won't weigh over 110 pounds but he certainly wrecked the place."

The officer planned to transfer the prisoner to the county jail at Clayton, and said the owner of the stolen truck, John C. Foster, of Bluffton, was seeking papers to extradite the boy to Georgia.

GROVE JOINS AIRMPT

William R. Groves has been appointed a district manager for Airmpt division, Chrysler Corporation, according to a recent announcement.

The plant, a unit of Du Pont's R. & H. chemicals department, is expected to be ready in the summer of 1942. Production will supplement that of a Du Pont plant at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Industries participating in the national defense program will use most of the solvents to be produced at Wyandotte. A principal industrial use of solvents is for removing oil and grease from metals which are to be plated, lacquered or painted.

While it is not generally known to the public, American banks through their associations are financing scholarship loans in co-operation with colleges and universities, according to the "travelers' cheque" bureau of the American Express.

Through the American Bankers' Association on its 50th anniversary in 1925 a $500,000 foundation fund was accumulated through voluntary individual subscription and donations by bank members.

No loans to total 730 scholars ships with an additional 100 awards exceeding $14,146 have gone to the Graduate School of Banking enrollees.

An outstanding example of the integrity of students with respect to the repayment of their loans is illustrated by the prompt and conscientious payment from all students throughout the United States for the years of loans to date.

SEAGRAMS' EARNINGS—Distillers Corporation—Seagrams, Ltd., reports for the fiscal year ended July 31 net profit of $8,110,000 after income and excess profits taxes and $1,000,000 for contingencies, equal after preferred dividends, to $4.17 a common share. This compared with $9.71, 71¢, or $5.08 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

JESSE LIDE PROMOTED—Jesse H. Lide has been appointed assistant general advertising manager of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, it is announced by G. E. Hendry, assistant to the president. Mr. Lide will have his office at the company's Pittsburgh headquarters.

Since September, 1940, Mr. Lide has been assistant advertising manager of the Westinghouse merchandising division in Muncie, Ind. He went to that position in 1940 from Philadelphia, where he was merchandise sales promotion manager of the middle Atlantic district. He entered the company's sales promotion department in 1926 in the Atlanta, Ga., office.

Mr. Lide left the company in 1929 to become advertising manager of the Rome Wire Company in Rome, N. Y., and later general advertising manager of the General Cable Corporation. He rejoined Westinghouse in 1941.

NEW DU PONT PLANT—Construction of a new plant for the manufacture of chlorinated hydrocarbon solvents on a recently acquired 23-acre site at Wyandotte, Mich., will begin about November 1, the Du Pont company announced.

Curtail Power For Aluminum, Georgian Urges

McDonald Suggests Temporary Shutdown of Furnaces.

Walter McDonald, head of the Southeastern Power Conference Committee, last night suggested temporary shutdown of aluminum furnaces in the Tennessee valley instead of commercial and industrial electric power curtailment throughout the southeast.

This proposal came in a statement in connection with a meeting here today of southeastern utilities commissioners, Federal Power Commission and Office of Production Management officials to discuss action in face of a drought-caused power emergency.

"A curtailment of some 30 to 40 per cent, which would be required to keep up aluminum production, would mean a substantial economic loss to the entire south," McDonald, chairman of the Georgia Public Service Commission, declared.

Urges Investigation. "It is just as important to the national defense program that we preserve the general morale of the people of this region who have wholeheartedly supported the effort for defense program as it is to concentrate upon one defense product, however vital that may be."

McDonald said he believed a temporary cessation of Tennessee aluminum production would avert necessity for "any substantial curtailment" of industrial and commercial power.

He asserted he would urge that OPM "carefully investigate" the stock of aluminum on hand to determine whether the defense program could withstand temporary shutdown of aluminum furnaces in the TVA area.

The Federal Power Commission last night announced postponement of power rationing plans until November 10. McDonald said he believed postponement to November 17, when the rainy season should be under way, would be considered.

Leaders to Attend.

Among those expected to attend the conference are: Chairman Hugh White, of the Alabama Public Service Commission; Commissioner A. B. Hill, of the Arkansas Department of Public Utilities; Commissioner Jerry W. Carter, of the Florida Railroad Commission; Secretary P. A. Frye, of the Louisiana Public Service Commission; Chairman Stanley Winborne, of the North Carolina Utilities Commission; Commissioner James W. Wolfe, of the South Carolina Public Service Commission; Commissioner Leon Jourdmon, of the Tennessee Public Utilities Commission, and Commissioner H. Lester Hooker, of the Virginia Corporation Commission. Donald Nelson, director of priorities, also announced J. A. Krug, chief of the power and communications branch, division of material, and Edward Flack, chief of the power requirements and allocations section, will be here for the conference.

Arnall Urges Pay Increases For Teachers

the state now has approximately $6,000,000 in added revenue available for such a purpose.

"I state auditor's report reveals that in the past fiscal year the state's income, exclusive of federal funds, amounted to more than $52,000,000. This is an all-time high. The report also shows that during the past fiscal year state income has increased by nearly $6,000,000.

"I contend," Arnall continued, "that out of this $6,000,000 increase, the Governor ought to be able to put school teachers' salaries on a parity with salaries paid other people."

"The present Governor has complete and absolute control of all money belonging to the people. He is the dictator of all state fiscal affairs. He ought to pass an executive order immediately directing that common school teachers be paid from funds that I guess are on hand—they ought to be—decent and living wages."

A "sympathetic" governor, according to Arnall, might well find it possible to increase old-age pension payments out of the additional revenue the state is now receiving.

"Six million dollars should go a long way," he added. Arnall criticized alleged practices of partiality in payment of state debts as well as the current dearth of construction on state roads.

"Highway contractors and material men, other than personal friends of the present Governor, have not received payment of their past-due debts and obligations," the attorney general declared, "yet as I go about over the state I find mighty little road building going on, despite the fact that our highways are certainly beginning to go to pieces."

These men were active in the first World War, two being in the Army, one as a chaplain and the other in a field artillery unit.

The program, sponsored by the Atlanta chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews has a three-fold purpose, Dr. M. Ashby Jones, Atlanta chapter president, said.

These three men, he said, will (1) report what they found and (2) attempt to impress the American people with the fundamental need for closer co-operative effect in maintaining democracy through religious groups and (3) state again that religion, believed and practiced, is fundamental to democracy.

The discussion tomorrow night will climax a week's program, conducted in 18 Georgia universities and colleges. Atlanta leaders of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, besides Dr. Jones, are Walter Rich and Hughes Spalding.

Senate Studies Armed Vessel Bill Expansion

May Allow U. S. Ships To Sail Anywhere on High Seas.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Indications were multiplying tonight that administration senate forces would take the lead in an effort to expand the armed ship bill so as to permit American merchant vessels to sail anywhere on the high seas.

After the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had spent the day hearing opposition witnesses contending that the house-approved measure authorizing ship arming would push the country closer to war, Chairman Connally, Democrat, Texas, told reporters he was "having some amendments prepared for possible use later on."

Connally reiterated previous statements that he favors elimination of the neutrality act provisions which prevent American-flag ships from entering belligerent ports or combat areas.

He said, too, that "hooking up the armed ship and the belligerent port questions in one bill probably would take less debate in the aggregate than passing the ship arming now and considering the other problem later."

Connally added, however, that administration leaders had not yet reached a decision regarding procedure. There is no thought in administration circles of accepting Wendell L. Wilkie's suggestion that the neutrality law be repealed completely, Connally declared, adding:

"There are some provisions we ought to preserve—a few little gadgets that we might leave around for ornamental purposes." These provisions include those forbidding the use of the American flag by foreign ships and granting the government control over munitions exports.

Although the administration trend in the senate appeared to be in the direction of broadening the ship arming measure, there were authoritative reports that some leaders were opposed to

Panama Crashes Kill Three Pilots

PANAMA, Oct. 22. (AP)—Three United States Army pursuit planes crashed simultaneously into Cereno Hill and killed their pilots during a night training maneuver last night, Army authorities disclosed tonight.

The planes were in a formation of five which encountered bad weather 50 miles from Albrook Field and were circling at a low altitude when they struck the comparatively low hill, authorities said.

The dead, all second lieutenants, were H. G. Haldeman, Pasadena, Cal.; L. M. Harrington, Winter Park, Fla., and D. M. Lewy, Greenville, Miss.

200 Reported Slain For Belgrade Attack

ZAGREB, Croatia, Oct. 22. (AP)—The Serb newspaper Novo Vreme announced today that 200 Jews and so-called Communists were executed by authorities as a reprisal for an attack on two German soldiers October 17 in Belgrade.

that procedure on the ground that it would only tend to delay the pending measure.

At today's closed session of the Foreign Relations Committee, former Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, and other witnesses argued that arming ships would edge the nation closer to actual involvement in the war. Reed, who is head of the Pittsburgh unit of the America First Committee, told reporters he did not believe "that Hitler has any fixed policy to sink our ships."

"On the other hand," he added, "there are many indications he is trying to keep us out of the war."

Windsors Still Cheery

NEW YORK, Oct. 22. (AP)—Today everybody listened to hear the Duke and Duchess of Windsor holler uncle.

Instead, in the best British style they rambled through eight engagements, every one of which involved going from here to there and standing first on one foot and then on the other, and still they were able to smile. They said, "Wonderful," "Really?" and "You are very kind," over and over again.

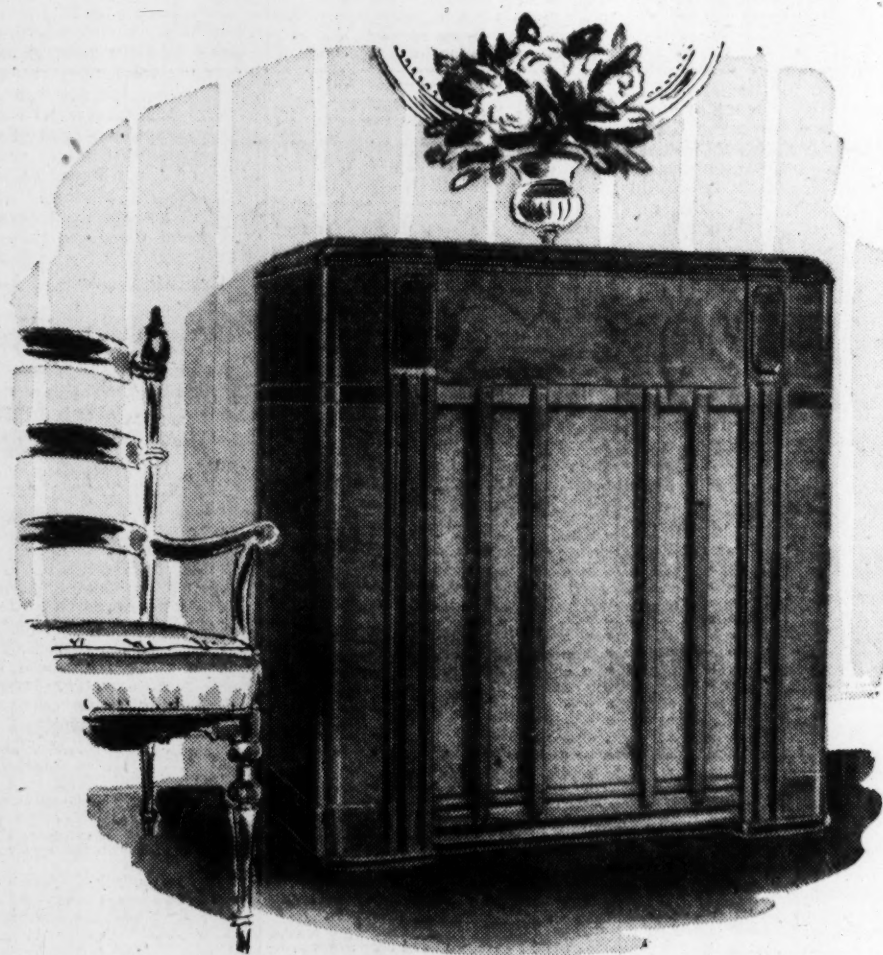

Cheering crowds pressed against them, Wall Street welcomed them with a shower of ticker tape, women curtsied awkwardly before them, and still they smiled.

Not only smiled, but played darts at the Seaman's Institute, where the Duchess scored a near bull's-eye.

There, for the first time, they gave out autographs.

Eric Hewson, engine room artificer, commented, "The last time I saw His Majesty was just before he abdicated. He visited the fleet at Portland, and he looked sad. He looks more cheerful now. And it's a lovely lady he has."

Press Women Plan Party For Senorita Petit, of Chile

By SALLY FORTH.

MEMBERS OF THE Atlanta Woman's Press Club are ever alert to the presence here of any personages whose fields of endeavor offer valuable opportunity of keeping abreast of the times. And next week they will avail themselves of the pleasure and privilege of meeting Senorita Magdalena Petit, of Santiago, Chile, who will be in the city for a brief visit. As a complimentary gesture to the distinguished visitor, the Press Club will honor her at an informal cocktail party Thursday, October 30, at 5 o'clock at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Senorita Petit is in this country at the invitation of the Department of State, the purpose of her visit being the furtherance of a "good-neighbor" feeling between the Americas. Her presence is affording an excellent opportunity for journalists to acquire first-hand information about a people who more and more are becoming important factors in the news of the day.

Distinguished both at home and abroad as a literary light, Senorita Petit is the author of numerous plays, novels and biographies. Among the latter group is her prize-winning historical novel, "Diego Portales." Another of her novels, "Los Pincheira," recently was adapted for the screen.

Senorita Petit forsook a brilliant musical career for that of writing. In the field of music she collaborated with the Bach Society, attracting wide attention for her original compositions. She is much engrossed in the theater, evidenced by the several plays she has published and by her keen interest in the Little Theater movement and its development in Chile.

Besides her cultural attainments, Senorita Petit possesses an engaging personality and is a brilliant and witty conversationalist. She is one of those rare persons who never fails to captivate those with whom she comes in contact.

Following the party to be given by the Press Club, the visitor will be complimented at the dinner to be given that evening by the members of the Atlanta Branch of the Pan-American League at the Georgian Terrace hotel.

APPEARING IN the current issue of Mademoiselle magazine is an attractive photograph of lovely Ridgeley Vermilye Gilroy and her handsome husband, Bill, who are recent additions to Atlanta society from Plainfield, N. J. The photograph of the prominent pair was snapped at the St. Regis hotel and appears in a layout including other couples photographed at well-known New York night spots. Ridgeley and Bill, who moved to Atlanta several months ago, are residing on Peachtree road.

LOVELY Dale Saylor, daughter of Colonel Henry B. Saylor and Mrs. Saylor, of Fort McPherson, is the latest "recruit" to Atlanta debutante ranks. Dale, you see, is a student at Sweetbriar College in Virginia, but she plans to forsake her studies and fly down to Atlanta for the Halloween ball on October 31 at the Driving Club. Her escorts for the occasion will be Lieutenants Roger Lawson and William Geer, both of Fort McPherson.

To the regret of her sister Atlanta deb, however, Dale will spend the Christmas holidays in Savannah, where she will be formally presented to society, following in the footsteps of her attractive mother, the former Jessie Dixon, of that city. Dale will make her bow at an elaborate dinner party to take place on December 26 at the De Soto hotel preceding the annual Black and White Ball. Numerous affairs will be planned for her during the holidays, for the Saylor formerly resided in Savannah and still own a cottage at Tybee Island, where they spent the past summer.

Dale, though planning to continue her studies at Sweetbriar after the holidays, may be persuaded to be presented to Atlanta society following her Savannah presentation.

DEBS MODEL FOR BRITAIN—Several hundred socialites gathered at the Piedmont Driving Club last night as the annual Debutante Fashion Revue was presented, for the benefit of the British War Relief Society. The pretty models pictured are (left to right) Mimi Pappenheimer, Carolyn Yundt and Mary Frances Broach, president of the Debutante Club. The bulldog, symbolic of British tenacity, added a lively touch.

of sentiment. The silver is of Dauphin design, and was given the bride-elect's mother at the time of her marriage. The donor was Anne's maternal grandfather, the late I. N. Ragsdale, who was mayor of Atlanta for several years.

When Anne plights her troth on Thanksgiving Day at the First Presbyterian church, the little flower girl will be Caroline Sauls, a member of the bride-elect's Sunday school class.

Debs Parade Youthful Beauty On Behalf of the 'Union Jack'

By KATHRYN BARNWELL DUDLEY.

The blush suffusing the cheeks of lovely Caroline Yundt when she enacted the coveted role of bride at last evening's Debutante Fashion Revue would have done credit to a real bride. Caroline was appropriately regal and radiant in a wedding gown of heavy cream duchess satin with a Peter Pan collar and saucy peplum of hand-made Irish crocheted lace. Her misty tulle veil showered from her dark hair to the end of the fan-shaped train, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias. The show, an annual event, was presented by the Debutante coterie at the Piedmont Driving Club for the benefit of the club charity, the British War Relief Society. A throng of several hundred socialites assembled to see deb models and fashion's newest creations, which were furnished by J. P. Allen & Company.

British theme predominated at the wedding. Officers from Fort McPherson and Camp Gordon air base donned full dress uniforms to participate in the scene, which was characterized by the pomp and color associated with a full military ceremony.

Bridesmaids included Mary Ellen Orme, Sallie Cobb Johnson, Marion Knowles and Margaret Peavy, who wore picturesque gowns of white faille fashioned with the long torso and full skirt. Bouquets of American Beauty roses tied with flag blue tulle formed effective contrast to their costumes, and carried out the patriotic theme of the wedding.

Enlivened by several humorous skits, the fashion parade continued with Rutledge Tufts attempting to contact a debutante by telephone. His efforts to reach her introduced the various phases of the show, including cocktail, evening, street and sports scenes. Highlighting the event were graceful exhibitions of the Conga and rumba by debutante Mimi Pappenheimer, Martha Ridley and Emily Mobley.

The stage was erected before the fireplace at the far end of the ballroom, and the orchestra remained after the show to play for dancing.

Gowns Described. Description of some of the gowns modeled by the season's buds, who became sophisticates for an evening, follow:

Clare Hewlett wore a striking sports suit of lemon wool effectively contrasted by strips of varicolored wool inset at the neckline. Marion Knowles commanded admiring attention modeling sheath-like black net sprinkled with jet paillettes and topped by a glittering jet jacket. Scarlet slippers added madcap charm to her costume.

Virginia Richardson was stunning in a bright green coat, the entire skirt of which was fashioned of leopard skin. Her huge muffs and saucy toque were also made of leopard.

Josephine McDougall was a soignée in a cloud-blue velvet gown, the peplum and collar of which were bordered with gold sequins. A white fox jacket completed her attire. A stunning blue and brown tulle jacket topped the brown whipcord riding habit modeled by attractive C. C. Proctor.

Mary Hodgson's Dress.

Mary Hodgson's cream faille evening dress was studded with sapphire and silver stones at the waistline, and topped with a full-length coat of periwinkle blue velvet luxuriously trimmed in silver fox.

Keeler Newton, of Forsyth, typified the charm of the informal wearing cell blue silk gabardine slacks. Ultra-decollete was the black formal worn by Margaret Harmon, which was sheathlike to her knees, where it flared into cascades of black lace ruffles.

Mary Frances Broach, president of the Debutante Club, was a chic figure in the sports scene wearing a two-toned moss green crepe dress with a becoming black pompadour hat. Mimi Pappenheimer was glamour on a petite scale wear-

'Thunder and Stars' Author Honored at Elaborate Tea

Virginia Clare, popular author of "Thunder and Stars," which has just been released, was honored yesterday afternoon at the elaborate tea given by Mrs. William B. Pettigrew at the Piedmont Driving Club.

The author, who in private life is Mrs. Stewart Clare, is being widely feted upon the publication of her book, which deals with the life of the late Miss Mildred Ruthenford, nationally known and beloved figure in U. D. C. circles and for nearly half a century the guiding light of Lucy Cobb Institute.

Mildred Seydell, great-niece and namesake of "Miss Millie" and to whom the book is dedicated, assisted in receiving the guests with Mrs. Clare and Mrs. Pettigrew.

Mrs. Herbert Oliver and Mrs. McGregor Flanders presided at the tea service. Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames John Morris, William Hart Sibley, Joseph Raine, Greer Roberts, William Davis, George Bland Jr., Thomas Crabtree, Maude Lay Elton, Warren Clare, W. W. Burns, J. T. DeLiesseine, Miss St. John Barrowell and Miss Catherine Walker.

Receiving the cards at the door were Anna Brantley Clare, young daughter of the honor guest; Mary Brown and Jean Davis.

The buffet table was centered with a graceful arrangement of ing a defense blue costume: it with a collar and buttons fashioned of gray kimmer fur.

Virginia Dulaney, treasurer, was lovely in champagne net enriched with bronze sequins in a flower design. Carolyn Reed's eye-catching formal was of weblike black lace topped with a sky blue faille bodice accented on one shoulder by a huge blue faille bow.

Larue Mizell's exotic beauty was offset by a theater red suit of imported rabbit's hair woolen, the jacket of which featured a plaid design.

Betty Hoyt, who came home from the University of Georgia to participate in the affair, was stunning in a cocktail dress of gold crepe, featuring buttons from the neckline to the end of the long, tapering sleeves. Brown accessories completed her attire.

3d Corn Show Hitler Appears Opens Today As Friend to In Moultrie County's Poor

Prizes, Mostly Livestock, To Be Awarded for High Yields.

MOULTRIE, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP)—The first three years of a five-year corn contest have increased Colquitt county's farm income more than $1,000,000 annually, Manager H. McDowell, of the Moultrie Chamber of Commerce, declared today.

The average yield of all contestants has gone to more than 45 bushels per acre, said McDowell, and "should go well above 50 bushels per acre by the time the contest ends two years hence."

The corn contest is a feature of the two-day Corn and Livestock show which opens tomorrow at the livestock auditorium here.

Prizes for the third annual corn competition will be awarded tomorrow afternoon.

The average corn production for the state as a whole is about 11 bushels per acre, compared to 53 bushels per acre in the corn-emphasizing state of Indiana.

Included in the show will be the national prize-winning registered double standard polled Hereford bull, Pontiac Domino, with several other bulls, cows, calves and heifers of that breed from the famed Johnson herd of Pontiac, Mich. Some will be sold at auction here.

Prizes amounting to $1,200, largely in pure-bred livestock, are awarded corn contest winners. Several other Georgia counties and counties in Florida have adopted the contest scheme with good results, officials said.

McDowell said that although weather conditions this year have been unfavorable, the corn yield in Colquitt was expected to exceed last year's.

High Prices Caused by War May Halt Almshouse Change.

By WILLARD COPE.

Fulton county's forgotten old men and women, the 208 occupants of the county almshouse, appeared yesterday to have found a friend at last to stay their eventual eviction from the fashionable North Fulton park, which county funds established around them in the last five years.

This friend, of all persons, was Adolf Hitler, the world's most hated man. But it wasn't anything that the German Fuehrer had planned.

It developed in advance of a meeting of the county planning commission, scheduled for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to consider a new location for the almshouse, that the cost of materials and difficulties in obtaining priorities, due to national defense efforts, made necessary by Hitler, may lead the commission to view with trepidation a plan which might involve an outlay of $150,000 for new buildings in addition to land costs in another location.

The present structures, of heavy brick Colonial design, contain 68 rooms, six wards and various adjuncts, and are believed possessed of 20 more years of serviceability, with slight repairs. The planning commission's sanction is required by statute in locating all public buildings in the county, excepting schools.

The present almshouse, in use for nearly 30 years, was established in an isolated section northwest of Buckhead. It is now encircled by a golf course, swimming pool, tennis courts, equestrian ring and modern homes. Ages of its feeble occupants range from 65 to 80 years.

At its session today the planning commission will delve into an offer of Grove Park residents to sell the county a site for $13,000, accepting in part payment the 33½-acre site in north Fulton county which a storm of protest two weeks ago led the commissioners to abandon just after its purchase for $5,000.

It was declared that opposition to the Grove Park removal now was developing among residents of that section.

Warner's Latest Buy for Bette Davis Is a Grim New England Tragedy

By Louella O. Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22.—(INS) "Ethan Frome," considered by many to be Edith Wharton's finest novel, has been purchased by Hal Wallis for Bette Davis. A grim tragedy of New England frustration and love, it has been compared to the works of Hawthorne. Bette, who once did an air show of the Wharton story, has been urging Warner to buy it for her for a long time. Interesting that Bette will have Raymond Massey as her acting partner in "Ethan Frome," in the role he played on the stage. Published in 1911, this novel is said to be Mrs. Wharton's finest contribution to American literature. No one understands the character of the New Englanders better than Bette and who comes from Massachusetts and who has spent much time in New Hampshire and Vermont.

I'll admit I took Gabriel Pascal's claim that he had signed Cary Grant with a grain of salt. There are so many movies ahead for Cary that I couldn't see how he could make any more commitments unless he doubles in brass. But apparently he has signed a contract to costar which Ginger Rogers in "Arms and the Man," the George Bernard Shaw play which Pascal produces and directs in Hollywood. Cary's one stipulation is that his role in "Arms and the Man" remains as originally written. I don't think he needs have any fears on that score for Pascal has an understanding with the 80-odd-year-old playwright that the movies do not tamper with his plays. After "Arms and the Man" is finished Pascal will produce "Captain Brassbound's Conversion" originally written for Ellen Terry.

Well, Joan Fontaine checks in at 20th Century-Fox for the lead in "This Above All." Several weeks ago I said that Darryl Zanuck wanted Joan but she felt the story wasn't right for her. David Selznick suspended Joan when she refused Eric Knight's best-seller but she changed her mind and now plays the lead opposite Tyrone Power. Actually the role of Prudence, the doctor's daughter who falls in love with the unhappy soldier, is comparable in importance to the soldier role played by Ty. I don't know why she didn't want to make the picture for the book is tremendously popular.

Sympathy goes to Victor Mature whose father passed away early Monday morning in Louisville. Vic flew to his father's bedside, arriving just before he died. His picture, "Highway to Hell," has been postponed for four weeks so that gives him a chance to remain with his mother for several weeks. He is an only child, and is devoted to his parents. Speaking of "Highway to Hell," I hear, entre nous, that 20th Century-Fox and Pat O'Brien have dissolved partnership by mutual agreement and that when the picture goes into production Pat will be at Columbia and not at 20th. I imagine that means that Victor Mature's role will be built up. He is really going ahead by leaps and bounds.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: If you wondered why Franchot Tone married blond Jean Wallace, 18-year-old actress, half his age, I can tell you Franchot's answer to it. He telephoned to me from Palm Springs shortly after the ceremony on Saturday night. When I said "How did you happen to marry?" he said, "I couldn't resist her." He seemed very happy and I gathered from his conversation that this wasn't a spur-of-the-moment marriage planned in five minutes, and that he and the little Wallace girl had known for some days they were to marry. The Racquet Club in Palm Springs gave them a dinner. If he is as happy as Bill Powell, who married Diana Lewis, much younger, his marriage will be a success.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Ann Southern and Cesar Romero continue to find each other good company, so it's interesting that Priscilla Stillman, once reported as Cesar's heartbeat, stepped out at the Beverly Tropic Sunday night with Roger Pryor; Hedy Lamar and Charlie Chaplin creating more than ordinary interest at the Mocambo; Gloria Vanderbilt Jr. and Howard Hughes dancing at Ciro's; Stewart Sargent, Richard Barthelmess' stepson, and Natalie Thompson, M-G-M player, at the Copacabana; Laraine Turner will see her ex, Artie Shaw, when she stops over in Chicago on her way east; they are still good friends; the Jack Warners returned home today from a few weeks at Hot Springs, Ark.; Dorothy Ates, Roscoe's stepdaughter and her bridegroom, David Durand, at Slaspie Waxie's in spite of gossip that she might seek an annulment; Maria Montez, who has gone brunette and Truman Bradley are a duet these days; Gene Fowler's son-in-law, Stanley Parlan, has had the talent scouts looking him over at the Bliss-Hayden show; Marlene Dietrich shopping for baby clothes, but only for the shower for Mrs. Tay Garnett; Mal St. Clair, veteran director, will megaphone the next Lum 'n' Abner movie; Betty Keane, who is here to do "Yokel Boy" for Republic, was the headliner at Ciro's Sunday night, and she was given a big reception; the Lynne Overmans celebrate their nineteenth wedding anniversary November 14th. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Child Must Learn Financial Limits

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie: We are in very moderate circumstances and although we have funds enough to live comfortably, we do not have the money to do extensive entertaining. Our daughter is in high school and she is worrying us to death with her desire to do entertaining on a large scale, to buy more dresses, coats, and shoes than she needs, and to have more spending money. We try to give her as much as possible, but she is getting beyond us now.

We are, frankly, upset. All parents want their child to have things and to have all advantages but sometimes there has to be a limit. The latest thing is that our daughter wants us to borrow a large sum of money so that she can have the things the other girls have. We have a nice home, but she does not appreciate it. Now that she has been going with girls whose parents are more wealthy. What are your suggestions? WORRIED PARENTS.

Your problem is the same which has faced many parents before. I would not advise borrowing any money for your daughter to have new clothes or to entertain. If you and your husbands are giving your daughter all that you can afford, which I am sure is the case, I think it would be a very unwise move to jeopardize your future for the sake of her selfish wishes. Keeping up with the Joneses is very unwise.

If you think you could impress her with a little talk, it might be a good idea. Tell her the limit of your income and that you can do just so much; and that sailing under false colors will not make any lasting impression. Tell her that she will gain far more respect from everyone if she does not try to appear more than she is. Hold her with a steady hand and remember you have the wisdom of years on your side. Of course, give her what you can and let her have as much fun as possible for at her age these things are very important.

FIFTY-FIFTY IS BEST PLAN

Dear Dixie: A girl friend and myself have planned a trip together. We will travel by train and stop at hotels along the way. She suggests that I pay all the expenses on going and she will pay them on the return trip. Do you think that is a good idea? FRANCES.

No, I do not think that is a good idea. You would naturally have more money when you start out on the trip than when you begin the trip home, and the return trip may have to be done on reduced funds. Therefore, you would have the largest outlay of expense. When two people take a trip it is the best thing for each to pay her way straight through, or let one foot all the bills, keeping an account of what is spent and by whom. This can be settled at the end of the trip. Better stick to your own fare.

Carton Makes A Magazine Rack

Such a smart magazine rack—easily made, as so many furnishings can be, from odds and ends! A cardboard carton for the base, about a yard of figured cotton cloth for covering, a colorful print for decoration—that's all you need for our rack, which you can happily use to brighten your living room or for a gift.

To shape the carton (which should be about 15 inches square and 6 inches deep) cut away all except 2 sides and bottom.

Then cut a piece of cotton to fit over the whole outside, allowing a 1-inch turn-in all around. Paste cloth to carton with wallpaper paste or flour paste, fastening edges down securely inside.

Your handle is a strip of tin, 16 by 13-4 inches, which you can buy at any tinsmith's. Bend tin 5 inches from either end and use a small strip of wood to reinforce top of handle. Tape wood and handle together with adhesive, then cover handle with cloth, allowing cloth to extend 3 inches beyond ends.

Now fit handle and rack together, gluing cloth ends of handle firmly in place, and cover inside of rack with cloth—or would you prefer a bright-colored paper?

POINTS FOR PARENTS

Mother: "Go in your room and play alone for awhile, son. When you feel more kindly toward your little cousin and want to play nicely with him, you may come out."

Mother: "Now kiss your little cousin and say you are sorry you hit him and you can't have any ice cream. . . . Say it louder. . . . Now let him play with your things."

A Morning Shopper Gets More Vitamins

By Ida Jean Kain.

If the meals you serve are to conform to the dietary allowances for health for you and your family, you can't allow for the loss or waste of any food essentials. This means watching your culinary step from the market to the table. Otherwise, the vitamins and minerals will get away from you.

It is a nutrition-wise homemaker who markets early to select fruits and vegetables while they are crisp and fresh. Vegetables that are kept at room temperature for several hours may lose as much as 50 per cent of their vitamin value. This destruction may be hastened by careless handling and bruising.

The young, tender roots and leaves not only taste better than the old vegetables, but their vitamin content is higher. The rule for greens is the greener the richer the vitamin A. Your grocer does you no favor when he strips off the green outer layer of a head of lettuce, cabbage or collards. If you are buying yellow vegetables, get the yellowest ones you can find. A pale shade means they are not as good a source of vitamin A.

After having marketed with an eye to a full vitamin value, you certainly do not intend to let it be diminished in the cooking. Some of the vitamins and minerals are affected by oxidation, others are water soluble. To assure the least possible loss in these protective elements, use the minimum amount of water, have it boiling when the vegetables are placed in the pot, and keep the pot covered. Never add soda to vegetables to preserve the green color. You do so at the cost of precious vitamins!

Whenever possible, bake vegetables such as potatoes, onions, squash, tomatoes, or fruits such as bananas and apples or pears in their skins. The skin helps prevent the escape of vitamins into the air during the cooking. Also, it tends to seal the flavor in.

Whenever it is necessary to cook vegetables in a quantity of water, save the "pot likker" for use in broth or soup so that your family will not be cheated of any of the food essentials.

Frozen and canned foods are just as high in protective value as the fresh products. The frozen foods should not be thawed until you are ready to cook them. In using canned vegetables, the liquid should be drained off and heated first, then the vegetable added.

The chart, "Count Your Vitamins," gives you the complete list of foods high in these protective essentials. Send large stamped return envelope for it to Ida Jean Kain, The Constitution, Atlanta, Georgia.

MY DAY Washington Blindness Puzzles a Reader

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.—After a drive across the Triborough bridge and down East Side highway with very few traffic signals against us, I reached the house in New York City very promptly last night. My daughter and son-in-law were awaiting me, and we had time for a really comfortable dinner before I was called for my evening speech.

Miss Mayris Chaney went with me and, on the way back, after we had picked up my bags, we went into the restaurant in the station. We had iced chocolate and chicken sandwiches and much talk about a pleasant program she has in mind to keep all of us, young and old, in better physical condition during these strenuous days.

Once on the train, I tried to stay awake and do some of the mail, which I had not finished on the way up. Finally, my eyes would stay open no longer and I woke just before we pulled into Washington this morning. I had breakfast with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Elmhurst and Mrs. Elmhurst's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Straight, which started me off well for the day. It is a joy to have them staying here.

I have one more post card which I want to share with you today. The writer seems very indignant with me because I said my knowledge of the Bible was superficial. I wonder how many people would dare to say otherwise. Few people can claim a real study and knowledge of that Book, which is probably the most widely read Book in the world and, frequently, the least understood. My correspondent seems to feel that saying one's knowledge is superficial means that one had little respect for the subject.

As a matter of fact, it is because I have such a deep appreciation of what real knowledge the Bible implies, that I would never presume for a minute to consider it possible for me to claim anything beyond a very superficial study. On the other hand, my correspondent ends by thinking it odd that people in Washington can ever understand what is going on there.

I should like to assure him that it is quite easy to understand what human beings conceive and carry out in Washington in the present-day situation, and I am sure most of them wish frequently for divine guidance!

Most Overweights Are Undernourished

By Dr. William Brady.

To failure of the child's diet to provide adequate amounts of the essential vitamins—and the diet of a child of well-to-do parents who can afford the best food for their children is as likely to be deficient in vitamins as is the diet of the child of the poorest parents.

Perhaps if every child consumed at least a quart of fresh milk, an egg, a piece of cheese and some fresh fruit or fresh fruit juice every day malnutrition would seldom occur, because such foods, in the quantities mentioned, would provide nearly if not quite the ration of vitamin B complex, vitamin A, vitamin D and vitamin C required to prevent manifestations of nutritional deficiency disease.

Egg yolk and butter fat (in butter, cream, or fresh whole milk) are practically the only natural sources of vitamin D in the everyday diet. Of course a child or anyone else may manufacture considerable vitamin D in his own body if the body is exposed to direct sunshine as much as possible.

Smart for entertaining!

Battle of 'Kidnaped' Players to Feature Rebel-Wave Game

All in The Game

BY JACK TROY

Thirty-ninth Game COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 22.—The annual fair game with South Carolina has fallen at a bad time for the Clemson invaders.

For days now speedy little Airocobras, which whine like magnified 30-30 bullets, have been carrying on a successful defense of Columbia, the gem of South Carolina cities.

According to a close check, they have warded off all enemy bombers. All interceptor missions have been everything the general ordered.

South Carolina, in the heart of the city, is in a position to demand Army intervention—and may need it tomorrow. Clemson is one of two unbeaten and untied teams in all the Carolinas.

Seriously, tomorrow's is the 39th renewal of a great rivalry. For the last several years Clemson has had the upper hand. And tomorrow is hardly going to be another day for Rex Enright's team.

Frank Howard, who succeeded Jess Neely as head man at Clemson, has done a fine job. His Tigers tied for the Southern Conference title with Duke last year, and Duke and Clemson seem to be "kick-ins" for the championship again.

Clemson's going to have an All-American, too. His name is Joe Blalock and he plays a mean game of end—every Saturday. The All-America pickers like him. They have him right at the top of the list in the early calculations.

The experts had figured Clemson a bit slow until the Tigers moved into Boston and shellacked Boston College. Now they know that Clemson actually has everything, including team speed.

Students Ready South Carolina students aren't going for any Clemson superiority stuff, however. Students never do until the last tackle is made.

They have come up, in many prominent places on the campus, with rare bits of artistry.

One large sign showed the head of a tiger barely sticking out of a large kettle placed over a blazing fire. A flashing gamecock was near by, and the lettering read: "We ain't candidates, but we've got Clemson in a stew."

Another huge "bowl-bound" sign was somewhat ingenious. It showed a couple of students bearing the carcass of a tiger to one of those Chick Sale houses marked "Clemson Bowl."

And so, on and on they went, even resorting, in one instance, to poetry—

"Roses are red,
Violets are blue;
Hell with Hitler,
Clemson too."

Perhaps the most suggestive of all the decorations, however, was the graveyard laid out in a miniature football field. Crosses, with names of the Clemson gridders, were placed according to Tiger positions.

Oh, well, it is too bad they can't ring in the Carolina student body to play the game, too.

The point is that, while it probably will be a very fine game, the balance of power belongs to the invaders. And even the Airocobras might suffer their first setback if they should get mixed up in this annual football battle of South Carolina.

Never Rains It is an almost incredible thing that, while the ancient rivalry has continued almost unceasingly since 1895, never once has there been a rainy day.

Seldom are there any clouds, except big, fluffy

HOLT RAST, ALABAMA'S GREAT END—FACES GEORGIA SATURDAY AT BIRMINGHAM.

Tide, Bulldogs Renew Ancient Feud Saturday

Alabama Leads in Series, 13 Won to 10 Lost, 3 Ties.

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Oct. 22.—Alabama and Georgia will renew a 45-year-old gridiron series Saturday when they meet for the first time since 1935 on Birmingham's Legion field.

The highly touted Georgia Bulldogs will go into the game with one of the few undefeated records of a major college eleven and the Tide will be out to continue the comeback trail after winning handily from Tennessee, 9-2, last Saturday.

In the last meeting between the Crimson Tide and the Bulldogs, Alabama won, 17-7. Since the first "Bama-Georgia" encounter in 1895, the Tide has won 13 games, lost 10 and three ended in ties.

The Tide came out of the Tennessee battle in a pretty bruised and battered condition. Tony Leon, standout junior guard, suffered the most serious injury in the Vol game when he received a severely bruised leg. Tackles Mitchell Olenksi and Leon Fichman received side and knee injuries, respectively. Fullback Don Sails and Center Joe Donnanovich received bruised hands and End Babs Roberts injured a leg.

Sinkwich Amasses Remarkable Record.

By F. M. WILLIAMS.
ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 22.—Figures may be boring, but they tell impressively the greatness of Flyin' Frankie Sinkwich, Georgia's triple-threat halfback and the south's outstanding candidate for All-America honors.

In four ball games Sinkwich has piled up the tremendous total of 430 yards carrying the ball, has scored four touchdowns and tossed five touchdown passes. He has carried the ball 75 times, or an average of three out of every five downs, and his average per try is 5.7 yards. And on top of that Frankie had a 27-yard run against South Carolina, one 60-yard dash and another of 25 against Columbia nullified by penalties.

That would be remarkable under any conditions.

But when the fact that Sinkwich is a "marked man" every time he trots on the field and that two of the four games past have been played with a broken jaw, it approaches the almost unbelievable stage.

Sinkwich is Georgia's principal offensive hope against Alabama in what promises to be the outstanding gridiron classic in the south Saturday.

The Bulldogs wound up all but tight work this afternoon for the Tide tilt, Coach Butts announcing tomorrow's and Friday's workouts to be merely "warmups."

There was no rough work today, the varsity running through plays against the freshmen who wore heavy blocking pads.

Sinkwich looked good during the drill, running with his old-time fire and dash. The "man in the mask" who had his jaw unwired and is now able to eat solid food, after three weeks on liquid diet, and the added strength is noticeable.

Benedictine Jeopardizes Purples' Record Tonight

Savannah Eleven, Boasting Huge Line, Invades Ponce de Leon; Russell Plays North Fulton.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Shorty Doyal is dusting off his good-luck derby, and has his boys out chasing down his black cat, which he intends to put in a wire basket and take out to Ponce de Leon park, for he figures his Boys' High powerhouse will need all the good fortune he can conjure when it clashes with Benedictine High, of Savannah, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Only one man in the Purples' starting lineup will weigh as much as Coach Denny Leonard's line averages. Phil Alexander tips the scales at 185, and that is what the Savannah forewall will average. Ray Smith, at 180, is close, but all the other Atlantans are pretty much in l'il feller class.

VISITORS TOUGH.

The big, rugged visitors are most adept at blocking punts this year, having blocked three against Porter High, of Charleston, last week. Mahoney, the quarterback (No. 56 if you want to watch him) is the fellow who generally hurries through to make the block. Mooney, a bruising 200-pound fullback, totes the pigskin on most of the Benedictine plays and is reputed to be a real line smacker and a veritable demon backing up the line. He trained down from 230 pounds and seems unstoppable now. The big fellow and his mates gained 320 yards rushing in their last game.

Don (Rod) Paschal reinjured his shoulder this week and won't be able to do much passing for the Purples. But he still can run like a frightened antelope so will be in there part of the fray. Phil Alexander, with a back injury, and Hunt, with a broken finger and bruised knee, are other Purples who are semi-hospitalized. Don't shed too many tears for the Purple horde, however, as

Tech in Shape For Best Game Against Tigers

Bosch Returns to Form in Last Scrimmage of Week.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

If yesterday's hard scrimmage may be taken as an indication, Georgia Tech is ready to play its best game of the season against Auburn here Saturday.

Whether or not the Yellow Jackets' best game is good enough to defeat the Tigers is problematical, but, at least, it should make for a close and thrilling contest. The final scrimmage of the week was the hardest and one of the most cheering workouts of the season. The team went about its work with more vigor and spirit than has been shown so far this season.

WITH A NOD TO COLERIDGE

It was an Ancient Graduate who stoppeth one of three—"I think it's time to can the coach," the Ancient Grad, said he. "I hear we might drop a game to Duke—or Tennessee."

"Why is it we don't pile up scores and keep 'em on the lam, like Minnesota, Michigan, or even Fordham's Ram? We orta get another coach, and let this fellow scam."

The Ancient Grad was full of flame and fury from the start. He lit upon the coaching staff and tore it all apart. And then he ambled to the bar and killed another quart.

LOOKING AHEAD

Those somewhat baffled souls who have been trying to figure out how many of the present unbeaten will remain in the open contention through the remainder of the season are warned to look at the schedules on ahead.

When you have done this you will find that Fordham, Duke and Clemson have the call on the open road. They may be beaten, but they shouldn't be. None of the trio has an opponent left who could be given anything more than an upset chance.

It is entirely different with most of the others. Here are some of the other unwhipped line-ups with the better teams they must meet—

Vanderbilt must face Tulane, Alabama, Tennessee.

Minnesota must meet Michigan, Northwestern.

Michigan must meet Minnesota, Ohio State, Columbia.

Notre Dame must get by Illinois, Army, Navy, Northwestern.

Navy must face Harvard, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Army.

Army must meet Columbia, Notre Dame, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Navy.

Pennsylvania must get by Navy, Columbia, Army, Cornell.

Texas must whip Rice, Southern Methodist, Baylor, Texas Christian, Texas A. & M., Oregon.

Texas A. & M. must beat Baylor, Southern Methodist, Rice, Texas, Washington State.

Santa Clara must meet Oklahoma, Stanford, Oregon.

Temple must whip Boston College, Villanova, Michigan State, And Villanova, Duquesne and

Auburn Picked To Repel Tech In Scrap Here

Michigan Selected To Stop Victory March of Minnesota.

By PAUL B. WILLIAMSON.

Take a look at the rating system's figures and you won't attempt to pick the winner of the Alabama-Georgia tussle at Birmingham without a thinking headache. Alabama, with a 92.1 rating, gets the call over Georgia (92.0).

Auburn, listed at 88.1, is given the nod over Georgia Tech in the Atlanta battle. Tech ranks 86.4. Tulane (97.0) is rated far ahead of Ole Miss, which boasts 92.0.

Minnesota, which has rambled along for 11 games without interruption, is due for a cropper. Michigan (99.2) is the choice over the Gophers (96.0). Barring a tie, which the ratings indicate with the same ones for both teams (91.1), the system takes Stanford over Washington.

Although Fordham's Rams are slated to whip T. C. U., don't be surprised if the rating system is wrong on that one.

WILLIAMSON'S PREDICTION SCHEDULE.

Representative football games to be played this week are listed below, with each team's latest rating according to the Williamson National Rating System. This rating is a measure of each team's past performance to date. Results of the games are predicted on this basis.

The ratings tell as closely as possible the exact shade of difference between the competing teams. Hence a difference of 8 percentage points or less often indicate two evenly matched teams whose game will be a "toss-up," and the probable winner is favored only slightly. Ties are likely in such cases.

Explained: The figure after each team is its Williamson Rating according to the current Williamson Football Rating Table, published earlier this week. Probable winner is named in capital letters.

Clemson Is 14-Point Favorite

Carolina Given Small Chance With 3 Injured

Ace Back Grygo Doubtful Starter; Two Ends May Be Out.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 22.—(P)—Football fever raged here tonight as the Clemson Tigers and the South Carolina Gamecocks prepared to renew their colorful gridiron feud for the 38th time at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

A capacity crowd of 22,000 was indicated for the annual state fair classic. The record of no rain on the game since the first contest in 1896 was expected to hold since the forecast was for fair and continued warm weather.

Undeclared and untied so far this season, the Tigers, Southern conference champions last year, ruled heavy favorites to defeat the Gamecocks for the eighth straight year. Bookmakers were spotting Clemson 14 points and asking 20 points if they took the Carolina side of a bet.

GAMECOCKS AND 20. The odds were made even greater by the crippled condition of the Gamecock squad. Al Grygo, key backfield star, was a doubtful starter because of a leg injury. Steve Nowak, veteran end, was also in poor physical shape, and Gus Hempley, another flanker who specializes in pass reception, appeared lost to the team because of a last-minute induction into the United States Army at Fort Jackson.

Notwithstanding these handicaps, the Gamecocks were determined to give the Tigers a battle. Believing this just the spot for an upset, they were prepared to match the brilliance of Clemson's brightest individual stars. All-Southern End Joe Blalock, All-Southern Fullback Charlie Timmons, George Fritts, a mighty tackle, and Walter (Boaty) Payne, triple threat ace, with such stellar performers as Grygo, if he is able to play, Stan Stasia, sensational sophomore triple threat, Louis Sossamon, a 60-minute center; Bob Carter, a slashing tackle, and Harvey Blouin, a great defensive backfield man and blocker.

CLEMSON, 26 TO 11. In the 38 games of the long and tradition-steeped series, Clemson has won 26, Carolina has won 11 times and one game, that of 1915, was a scoreless tie.

The attendant ceremonies will start at 1:30 p. m., when the University's Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps unit, 170 strong, will parade. A prize platoon from the Clemson Cadet Corps will stage a precision drill immediately after the game.

During the half, Governor Burnett R. Maybank, who will resign November 4 to become the junior United States senator from this state, will exchange sides of the field with D. D. Witcover, president of the State Fair Association. Tradition dictates that the Governor must divide his allegiances between the two state institutions and after sitting out one half with the president of one school he sits with the other president for the last half. The fair president does likewise.

BUSINESS BETTER. Donald Hay, manager of the mutuels at the Pascoag course in Rhode Island, reports that business is picking up steadily at the new track. The Columbus Day attendance of 20,000 swamped the club's facilities.

white ones, in the sky. Patrons of the game apologize to visitors if the sun isn't shining. They had to bury the hatchet once in the rivalry. There was quite a fight in '02, and from '03 through '08 they called it quits. They got together, however, and there hasn't been an interruption since.

Used to be they'd kick off at high noon, but coaches probably persuaded them to forego this old tradition for the sake of fans' digestion and the players' well-being. It is mighty hot at high noon in South Carolina.

So were just a little bit south of North Carolina today, and tomorrow let's hope there aren't any Indians on either side anxious to bury the hatchet again.

Tiger Rally

T. J. Hendrix, president of the Columbia Club of Clemson alumni, invited several out-of-state sports editors for the big Tiger rally today and tonight.

Annually the alumni meet for an informal get-together here and number among their honored guests Dr. Poole, Clemson president; Coach Howard and his coaching staff; the Governor of the state, currently Burnet Maybanks, and certain writers.

In commenting upon the 1941 rally, Prexy Hendrix declared that the excellent showing made by the Clemson team so far this season has added greatly to the interest shown by supporters and alumni, and that plans call for an even larger rally attendance than originally was provided for.

Only bad feature about the annual game is the fact that there aren't enough seats. The fairgrounds stadium can accommodate only 20,000, and almost that many more would like to go. A full house is assured every year. It's the top sporting event of the year in South Carolina.

Bosch Returns To Fine Form

looked better than it has since before the season started, but the defense lacked co-ordination.

YES AND NO.

The varsity would stop Auburn plays as run by the Red Devils, but then the Reds would click on a pass for a touchdown. The scrubs scored six times from the long drill. Four of them were on passes and another completed aerial set up another. The sixth came on a 10-yard reverse run behind vicious blocking.

Tech coaches indicated they would spend a lot of time on pass defense before the week is over in addition to working on the Jacks' own blocking and running assignments.

The scrimmage concluded almost all pregame scrimmaging and all players came through without injury. The team will be at top condition for the Tigers if none of the boys get hurt in the group work scheduled today.

BOSCH BETTER.

One of the most pleasing parts of the final rough drill was the apparent return to form of Johnny Bosch, who ran harder and passed better than he has this season. Bosch, the team's sparkplug, seems completely recovered from a knee injury and is ready to go again.

His first substitute, Bobby Sheldon, who scored against Vanderbilt last Saturday, also looked good on several runs.

There also seemed more co-ordinated line blocking, which made it possible for the backs to look pretty good on offense today.

On defense, the varsity was found lacking, but several of the boys, including the veteran Elmer Dyke and Wex Jordan, turned in good performances.

Tech coaches are expecting Auburn to play its best game of the season, so a real thriller is in prospect for Saturday.

4 Tigers Return To First Team.

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 22.—Four players who were not in the starting lineup last Saturday returned to run on Auburn's first eleven today and indications were that they will open against Georgia Tech this week.

The four are Alternate Captain Francis Crummins and Joe Eddins, tackles; Jack Ferrell, guard, and Fullback Ty Irby.

The squad worked mainly on offense today with some time being devoted to a punting drill.

CASE DROPPED.

BRADENTON, Fla., Oct. 22.—(P)—Mayor Charles W. Ward dismissed today a municipal court case in which Paul Derringer, identified by court attaches as the Cincinnati baseball pitcher, was charged with disorderly conduct and fighting.

NEW GRID FOES.

BLACKSBURG, Va., Oct. 22.—(P)—Virginia Tech will take on two new football opponents—Arm, and Furman—in 1942. W. L. (Monk) Younger, athletic director, announced today.

Boys' High Ace Leads Scorers In G.I.A.A. Race

Clint Castleberry Nears Century Mark; 1940 Season Record.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 22.—(P)—Clint Castleberry, Boys' High's All-Southern, took a long stride toward the century figure in the G. I. A. A. scoring race as he rang up three touchdowns to bolster his leadership to 60 points.

In running up this outstanding total, Castleberry equalled his 1940 record for the entire season. The Purple Hurricane still has five games to play.

Not to be outdone, Jordan's Billy Rutland punched the scoring ticket for 21 points and pushed his total up to 47, which is runner-up in the week's scoring list.

those 262 points they have rolled up in six games this year attest to their potency, and it is quite possible Comet Clint Castleberry & Company will rack up their 18th straight victory over their tonight. This should be one of the Hurricane's severest tests, however, and one can't blame Doyal for dusting off that derby and having old "Midnight" brought out to Poncy just in case.

There will be another important game tonight out at North Fulton where the defending N. G. I. C. champions will play host to Coach R. L. Bowen's classy Russell Wildcats. The latter are in the thick of the conference title sprint this year, and will be out to get revenge on Coach Weyman Tucker's outfit for lickings absorbed the last two seasons.

Bo Dempsey and George Ratter, two future sleeping backs, will lead the Wildcat surge that bids fair to take them places. The Bulldogs, smarting under the 21-0 drubbing they got at the hands of Smokey Joe Martin's powerful Georgia Tech team last week, will be out for the night air either. This one should be one of the best of the year between N. G. I. C. teams.

Maroon Guard To Play At Center Saturday.

STARKVILLE, Miss., Oct. 22.—(P)—Coach Allyn McKee, of Mississippi State College, today took steps to protect his two centers, Emmitt Ray and Elbert Corley, by working his regular guard, Harold Grove, at the middle post and said he planned to use him there part of the time against Union Saturday.

Grove showed up well at center on the offensive and as a line backer. Hillard Thorpe, sophomore fullback, was still confined to the college hospital with boils.

Water Follies To Close Tonight

Acclaimed by one and all as one of the most beautiful and entertaining shows to play Atlanta in years, Water Follies of 1941 will bow out with a matinee this afternoon at 3:30, followed by a night performance at 8:30 at the city auditorium.

Crowds have increased with each performance as Atlantians discovered the show wasn't a swimming meet at all, but a Broadway musical, produced in and around the world's largest portable tank.

The greatest assembly of Olympic and national swimming champions ever gathered together in one cast, along with riotous clowns, dancers and singers, are in the cast, which is headed by handsome Buster Crabbe.

Critics have not been able to determine whether this Aquacade was a sports show or a theatrical production, but they all have agreed it is a whole of a show—offering something many Atlantians may never have the opportunity of seeing again.

Labor, Industry Urged by OPM To Halt Strikes

Defense Mediation Board Urges Pay Raises for 22,500 Miners.

By The Associated Press.

Industrial strife and threats of more to come spotted the nation yesterday as the Office of Production Management appealed to worker and management alike to stop strikes—"the greatest help the aggressors can get."

As the defense agency urged the use of government mediation machinery in all disputes and promised speedy co-operation, welders of a newly-formed independent union walked out of Seattle area shipyards, at work on big defense contracts.

The Independent Welders and Burners Council ordered the strike in protest against the action of the AFL-Seattle Metal Trades Council in removing 177 welders from jobs at the Lake Washington Shipyards at Houghton. Some 700 welders in three yards, at work on hundreds of millions of dollars in vessels, were reported out.

Meanwhile the National Defense Mediation Board recommended pay increases of more than $1,000,000 a year for 22,500 Alabama soft coal miners, most of whom have been on strike since Monday. The men had asked a 40 cents-a-day increase in the basic wage of $5.50. The board recommended a raise of 25 cents, the other 15 cents to be paid after April, 1942, under certain conditions.

Operators and miners went into a huddle in Birmingham to study the board's recommendations, while in Washington Chairman William H. Davis announced that the board would make recommendations for settlement of another coal mine dispute by Saturday.

District leaders of the United Mine Workers formally called a strike in the "captive" soft coal mines operated by seven large steel companies, effective at midnight October 27.

The move was made in support of demands for a closed union shop, which caused a seven-day walkout of 43,000 workers last month and led to a 30-day truce pending consideration of the dispute by the National Defense Mediation Board.

U. S. Aid Sought.

The federal government was asked to step in to avert a strike of 7,000 machinists involved in a jurisdictional dispute concerning 24 garage mechanics at the Weld Spring TNT plant, St. Louis.

AFL officials said the machinists would be called out October 27 unless the dispute is settled at the government TNT plant.

At San Diego, threats by Consolidated Aircraft Corporation workers to conduct a strike against landlords because of rent boosts which followed recent wage increases were reported by AFL machinists' officials.

In Detroit, picket lines were maintained in the week-old strike at the Great Lakes Steel Corporation's plant in suburban Ecorse by CIO unionists openly rebelling against orders of their union officials.

Aviator Describes Ferry Experience

E. W. Hightower, College Park aviator, who joined the Royal Canadian Air Force two months ago, told fellow Elks at the Elks Club in East Point last night some of his experiences in ferrying bombers across the Atlantic to England.

An experienced pilot, Hightower was detailed to the Atlantic assignment shortly after his arrival in Canada. He was welcomed back to Atlanta by Exalted Ruler Neil L. Lee and District Deputy R. M. McDuffie.

Before going to Canada, Hightower was private pilot for H. G. Candler.

Two Georgians On Food Program

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. EXPERIMENT, Ga., Oct. 22.—Two Georgians will speak at the food preservation conference to be held at the University of Tennessee, at Knoxville, on October 23-25. They will be Dr. J. G. Woodroof, of the Georgia agricultural experiment station, of Griffin and Tifton, and C. T. Baker, consulting engineer, of Atlanta.

Other speakers will include Dr. L. V. Burton, editor of Food Industries magazine; Wayne Carver, editor of Frozen Locker Patron, and S. T. Warrington, of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington.

The conference is sponsored jointly by the American Society of Refrigeration Engineers and the University of Tennessee. The discussions will be devoted largely to the relation of refrigeration to food preservation, which will include both frozen foods and common cold storage.

Questioning developed that Hillman is serving the government without pay, receiving his only compensation as president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, a CIO affiliate.

He also testified that the government had given "no monopoly" to the American Federation of Labor on construction jobs and had not ruled out prefabrication of housing projects.

Hillman was called before the committee as the outgrowth of previous testimony that P. J. Currier, Detroit manufacturer of prefabricated housing, had been denied the Wayne county contract because of "labor stabilization" policies of the government.

Currier asserted that his bid of $979,500 was $431,000 lower than the next lowest bid.

Hillman testified that an award of the contract to Currier would have involved an issue of "aiding" of established AFL unions by the Congress of Industrial Organizations, an issue which he said had caused unsettled labor relations in the Detroit area for some time.

Currier asserted that his bid of $979,500 was $431,000 lower than the next lowest bid.

Hillman testified that an award of the contract to Currier would have involved an issue of "aiding" of established AFL unions by the Congress of Industrial Organizations, an issue which he said had caused unsettled labor relations in the Detroit area for some time.

Questioning developed that Hillman is serving the government without pay, receiving his only compensation as president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, a CIO affiliate.

He also testified that the government had given "no monopoly" to the American Federation of Labor on construction jobs and had not ruled out prefabrication of housing projects.

Hillman was called before the committee as the outgrowth of previous testimony that P. J. Currier, Detroit manufacturer of prefabricated housing, had been denied the Wayne county contract because of "labor stabilization" policies of the government.

Sidney Hillman Defends Action In Housing Row

Says Blocking of Contract Prevented Labor 'Civil War.'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(P)—Accused of "appearing" the AFL at a cost of $200,000 to the United States government, Sidney Hillman today defended his action in blocking the award of a Wayne county (Michigan) defense housing project to the low bidder, who employs CIO labor.

Hillman, associate director general of the Office of Production Management, told the Senate Defense Investigating Committee he had acted to avert threatened "civil war" between AFL and CIO unions in the Detroit area.

When Senator Brewster, Republican, Maine, told him that he was "appearing certain elements of the AFL and its costing United States $200,000," Hillman declared: "We have not been covered by any elements."

He also testified that the government had given "no monopoly" to the American Federation of Labor on construction jobs and had not ruled out prefabrication of housing projects.

Love Will Come Again

April Announces Her Engagement to Curt; Later Gay Finds Her Crying---

By Alma Sioux Scarberry.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.
Said April quickly: "Oh, darling, you haven't disgraced us! Don't be so melodramatic. Of course I trust you. If I hadn't known you were just getting a wild cat out of your system, I'd have sent you right home to mother when you arrived from Virginia."

Cherry scoffed, smiling: "You and who else? I wouldn't have gone!"

Cherry went to work as a receptionist at the Sherlock Steel Company the next day. She was demure as a daisy in a navy blue tailored dress with white collar and cuffs when Curt De Witt passed her desk just before 5 o'clock.

"How do you do, Miss Lind, his brown eyes twinkled at her. 'How's business?' The formality was for Miss Brown who sat nearby breaking in the new receptionist."

Cherry's pangs eyes worshiped him as he smiled:
"Just fine, thank you, Mr. De Witt." Then under her breath, "I'm so happy I could die. Oh, I love it!"

Miss Brown said surprised when Curt had gone out:
"Oh, do you now, Mr. De Witt?"

"He's an old friend of my sister's," Cherry busied herself with a paper and pencil making notes and trying to look very much occupied.

Miss Brown was quite definitely considering from that moment on. It could easily be seen that the president of Sherlock Steel was worshipped by his employees.

"He's the salt of the earth," Cora Brown enthused. "This is one plant where there'll never be a strike. Anything the boss says goes. Mr. De Witt worked himself up the hard way, and he never lets any of his people down. No matter who they are."

Cherry was aching to tell Miss Brown that she was pretty sure Mr. De Witt was going to be her brother-in-law; that he was madly in love with her sister. But she restrained herself with difficulty. Cherry could hold her tongue, which was one of her good qualities. It would be a help to her in the business world.

It was the next Sunday when Curt was having dinner with the family in Douglaston that April announced their engagement to the inner circle, Cherry, Gay and Pat.

"We're going to be married," April smiled shyly as she took Curt's hand and held it to her cheek. "I suppose you might have suspected."

"Oh, darling," Cherry cried, jumping up to kiss both her sister and Curt. "I'm so happy!"

Gay had known, but she pretended surprise. Pat pumped Curt's hand grinning broadly:
"Well, bless my soul! Isn't this a great day in the mornin'? Well, we're sure mighty glad to welcome you into the family, Mr. De Witt. I'm not exactly a member of the family yet. But I will be some day when Cherry gets so old she's afraid no one else will marry her!"

Kenny was in the kitchen with Hyacinthe. April said uncertainly:
"We won't say anything to Kenny yet. Not until our plans are made. We won't say anything to anyone, as a matter of fact. Let's keep it a family secret for a little while."

"You're going to be married right away, aren't you?" Cherry wanted to know. "It isn't going to be one of those long engagements, I hope."

Curt grinned. "Thanks, Cherry, for rooting in my corner. I've been trying to get April to elope. If it happens very suddenly some of these times you'll know I've hit her over the head and carried her off to a parson."

Cherry laughed: "That's the best way to keep her from getting cold feet. I'm for it. Be a cave man."

Pat asked: "What are you going to do about your radio career, April? Are you going to give it up?"

"She doesn't have to unless she wants to," Curt said. "If it makes her any happier to sing, that's her affair entirely."

"What do you think you'll do, darling?" Gay asked. "Have you made up your mind?"

April mused: "I don't exactly believe in working wives any more. I think I might like to be a clinging vine for a change. But would I really like it, do you suppose?"

Baering Down on the News

By Arthur "Bugs" Boer.

Declarations of war are pretty much like the ethics of moose hunting. First you shoot your moose and then you hide his carcass until the season opens.

Victory is a difficult thing to achieve, as Japan is finding out in China. I wrote that 20 years ago when I said, "You can defeat an army but you cannot defeat a people."

In triumphs of today you must not only catch your rabbit but you must dye it cocoa.

There is something ominous in the air. Something like the dinner music wafted from a cannibal village in Africa.

But like a cow on a trestle bridge we will take it in our stride.

I'm still an optimist even though I'm fading a bit like the window shades facing south.

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Astrologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES)— The predominant influence for the day suggest attention to your health and being cautious in your estate in all that you do. After 3:43 p. m. financial efforts should meet with favorable results and you are likely to meet generosity and understanding in business dealings with relatives and while traveling.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)— Between 3:43 p. m. and 4:26 p. m. favors attending to usual pursuits, getting work done quickly. After 4:26 p. m. sudden changes should be avoided, where possible. People around you may be too independent, or feel rebellious with existing conditions, but this is not the time to do anything about it. After 8 p. m. favors social activities.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)— Between 11:01 a. m. and 4:26 p. m. appears to be the most favorable part of the day, when you should look at the world in a practical, matter-of-fact way. This is an especially good time for general business and hard work. After 4:26 p. m. the new or extraordinary should be shunned. A good time to stick to routine.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)— Previous to 1:36 p. m. favors expansion along financial lines. An excellent period for dealing in education, legal and banking interests. During the afternoon and evening proceed cautiously in dealings of an unusual nature.

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO)— Favors routine affairs in your life, but suggests caution in secretive matters, around liquids, water and chemicals. The remainder of the day is favorable for making progress in those things that will advance your standing, dealing with people who are conservative and responsible.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO)— An auspicious day to improve conditions around you and to undertake work of a constructive nature. The entire day favors general business activities, buying and selling, social and domestic interests.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA)— Before 10:10 a. m. take particular pains to make your motives clear to other people, unless you have a special reason for concealing them. Mystery and confusion may easily creep into affairs started before this hour. After 10:10 a. m. favors investments, new opportunities, contacting people in high positions, and if you need any professional advice, you are likely to get the best now.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO)— The entire day and until 10:57 p. m. favors business and financial matters. After 10:57 p. m. it would be well to pay attention to details to avoid misunderstandings or deceptions.

November 22nd and December 21st (SAGITTARIUS)— If you have someone special to contact and want your interview to proceed smoothly, make your engagement before 1:08 p. m. Between 1:08 p. m. and 2:06 p. m. favors work requiring mental activity. The afternoon and evening hours favor general business activities.

December 22nd and January 19th (CAPRICORN)— The influence throughout the day incline toward nervous energy, with a desire to do things quickly, which can go into undue aggression. By being unusually careful and tactful, you can overcome such feelings.

January 20th and February 18th (AQUARIUS)— This should be a very good day, for the entire period favors new and important undertakings, dealings with people who are in positions of trust and for some really constructive work. The best aspects of the day operate previous to 5 p. m.

February 19th and March 20th (PISCES)— The tendency will be to hurry through things, to answer too quickly and possibly too shortly. Guard against this tendency, else there may be much to regret later.

Pitts Teacher Pushes School Health Program
Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

PITTS, Ga., Oct. 22.—Health, one of the most important subjects in school, should be practiced and not just taught from a book, according to Miss Anna Brazier, third grade teacher in Pitts Consolidated schools.

This year Miss Brazier is taking the lead in the school by seeing that pupils in her room, whose parents are unable to buy glasses, or have teeth fixed, or need medicine, shall not be handicapped. WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas blows up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c.

Bold Venture Casualty List Climbs to 18

All 39 of Lehigh's Crew Landed Safely at Bathurst.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—More men were lost in the sinking of the American freighter Bold Venture than originally feared, it developed today, while Secretary of State Hull spoke scathingly of Nazi designs for "a reign of terror on the high seas."

But word was flashed meanwhile that all 39 of the American crew aboard the freighter Lehigh, which was torpedoed on a trading voyage off the African bulge Sunday, had been rescued and brought to port.

Rescued with them, apparently, were five Spanish stowaways. Twenty-two men were landed at Bathurst by the British warship Vimy, an old World War mine layer, and an equal number at Free-town. In the latter group a third assistant engineer, Joseph Brady Jr., was seriously injured in the chest and leg and a seaman, Joseph Bartlett, lost three toes. Officials disclosed that 35 men, all foreigners, comprised the crew of the Bold Venture, former Danish ship now under Panamanian registry which was sunk off Iceland last Thursday with her cargo of cotton, copper and steel. Her crew originally had been put at 32. Thus with 17 landed safely at Reykjavik, the missing men numbered 18. This brought to 94 the apparent loss of lives aboard seven American-owned vessels attacked at sea since the European war started, including the 11 missing from the torpedoed destroyer Kearny. Three other American-owned ships have been sunk without loss of life.

Lehigh Officer Writes to Mother

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Just last week, Mrs. J. S. Newkirk received a letter from Spain in which her son, Roy J. Newkirk, promised to write again at the next port made by his ship, the Lehigh. Her next news from the son came last night when an Associated Press correspondent here informed her that the Lehigh had been torpedoed off the west coast of Africa. Newkirk had been on the Lehigh only a short time. His letter gave no destination from the Spanish port. A native of Brunswick, he was junior third officer on the ship. He had entered the Merchant Marine service about seven years ago after finishing his studies in the schools here.

Two younger brothers and a sister are in the nation's armed services. Joe S. Newkirk was inducted in April and is now with the Army Signal Corps at Tampa; Robert is with the U. S. Coast Guard and Miss Esther Newkirk is a nurse instructor at Fort Meade.
